GOLDWATER WINS NOMINATION

By JACK BELL

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Republicans have roared approval of Sen. Barry Goldwater as their presidential nominee and he vows to carry "the conservative cause" to the American voters in November.

The 55-year-old grandson of a Jewish peddler who emigrated to California from London ground moderate Republicans under his steamroller as he pushed to a first-ballot victory Wednesday night.

Twenty-three minutes after the call of the states began, Goldwater became the nominee when South Carolina cast its 16 ballots to put him over the 655 total needed to nominate.

By a motion of Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, his leading opponent, the nomination was made officially unanimous —but it wasn't quite.

In the midst of the confusion, Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, the convention chairman, told a reporter that he had been informed Goldwater had called Rep. William E. Miller of New York, the GOP national chairman, had offered him the vice presidential nomination, and that Miller had accepted.

★ ★ ★ Miller Seen As VP Choice ★ ★ ★

But Goldwater and Miller both appeared on television later to say that it wasn't quite as buttoned up as Morton had said it was.

Goldwater said he hadn't promised Miller to ask him to accept second place on the ticket, as had been reported. But he added that he is "favorably inclined" toward the upstate New York representative.

Miller, also appearing on television, said he thinks that after a meeting of Goldwater with state chairmen today some definitive announcement on the vice presidential nomination—which he said he would accept—would be forthcoming. The vice presidential nominee will be formally elected at tonight's closing session.

Miller, 44, and a Roman Catholic, would be calculated to bring to the ticket a skilled campaigner noted for his rough and tumble political battling. Goldwater has designated him as "a gut fighter."

He still holds an interest in swank retail clothing stores in Arizona.

The senator demonstrated iron control of the party and the convention in contrast to four years ago when, in withdrawing his name from consideration for the nomination, he urged conservatives not to desert the GOP.

This time, it was the party's moderates and liberals who had to march into the glaring lights on the podium to urge their supporters not to take a walk. The pendulum had swung to the right in those four years.

The single roll call, pursued to the end in the overcrowded Cow Palace, showed the overwhelming manner in which the Arizona senator had made his views popular with the 1,308 delegates.

The count showed, Goldwater 883 and Scranton 214.

The other votes were divided this way: Henry Cabot Lodge 3, Rockefeller 114, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith 27, Sen. Hiram Fong 5, Walter Judd 21 and Gov. George W. Romney 41.

At this point a chipper and smiling Scranton appeared dramatically to walk the long length of the platform to the rostrum where, framed in the lights and in the eye of the television cameras, he moved to make Goldwater's nomination unanimous. The hall burst at the seams with the thunder of approval.

Recalling that four years previously Goldwater had stood where he was, Scranton, his face solemn for the moment, told the delegates that the time had come when "an honorable man can say that the sense of this great convention has become abundantly clear." His view had not prevailed, he conceded.

"The Republican party. . . must now emphasize its unity, not its differences," Scranton said. His voice was drowned out for the moment by the roar from the convention floor and from the galleries.

"We must now be about the business of defeating Democrats," he continued. "I shall work for and fully support the ticket chosen by this convention."

Although all the other candidates quit, there still remained on the official record to controvert the convention's shouted approval of Scranton's unity motion, 17 votes for Scranton, 31 for Rockefeller, and 51 abstensions from New York.

To soften the bitter attacks they had made on him in the preconvention campaign, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Scranton hurried to Goldwater's headquarters in a Nob Hill hotel to talk with the winner.

Rockefeller, pushing his way through a crowd of newsmen, said "I congratulated him on a tremendous victory." Scranton called next, shortly after Goldwater read a television-radio statement in which he said of the Pennsylvania governor's convention appearance, "I know somewhat how he felt."

All of these efforts to substitute harmony for dissension among the Republicans brought a speedy blast from Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey.

In Washington, Bailey put out a statement saying that the Republican party "has been captured by a radical minority . . . completely divorced from the heritage and principles of our nation."

In an obvious indication of the kind of campaign the Democrats intend to launch against Goldwater, Bailey added:

"That radical minority has

Hancock Crash Kills Driver

SMASHED WRECKAGE. Noah Roberts of Youngstown was killed in a head-on collision of his car and a farm truck Wednesday afternoon on the Route 30 Hill near Chester. Alvin (Pete) Arner is shown preparing to remove the victim's body from the wreckage. John Hershberger of Salineville R. D. 2, the truck driver, escaped injury. A young girl in the car was injured seriously.

Youngstown Victim Trapped In Car In Chester Hill Crash

A 59-year-old Youngstown steelworker was killed almost instantly and his grandaughter was injured seriously in a head-on car-truck collision Wednesday about 4:30 on rain slicked Route 30 a half mile east of Chester.

The victim was Noah Roberts of 113 Earl Ave. who died of multiple injuries. He was trapped in the wreckage for several minutes.

Linda Barnes, 14, of Nutter Fork, W. Va., near Clarksburg, was in "poor" condition today at City Hospital with injuries suffered in the crash. A passenger in her grandfather's car, she received a concussion and a fractured pelvis.

The Hancock County Sheriff's office at New Cumberland said the mishap involved three vehicles.

The 1951 truck was driven by John Hershberger, 39, of Salineville R. D. 2, a farmer.

Deputies said Hershberger was headed down the long Chester Hill at about 55 to 60 miles an hour when the truck went into a skid on a slight curve. It was drizzling and the pavement was slicked by the rain, deputies said.

Headed uphill were a 1962 station wagon driven by Joseph Higbee of Toms River, N.J., and the 1957 sedan driven by Mr. Roberts.

Higbee told officers he saw the truck skidding and pulled to the right berm in an attempt to avoid a collision. Deputies said the truck hit the station wagon near the front of the left rear door and sliced the entire section from the door back.

It was cut away "just as if someone had used a can opener," deputies commented.

Southern Senators Make Appeal To Avoid All Violence

WASHINGTON (AP) — Southern senators, who lost a long and bitter battle against the civil rights bill, are closing ranks again to urge that Southerners obey the new law "for as long as it is there."

At least a dozen of the Democratic senators who fought hardest against the measure during a 15-week battle in the Senate have urged Dixie to limit its protests to court challenges and to avoid all violence, however much the law may be disliked.

Some have spoken out in statements and speeches in their home areas. Others said much the same when asked for comment on a speech by Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., who led their Senate fight.

Russell, addressing an area development commission at Rome, Ga., urged that the new law be observed as long as it is the law.

"Violence and law violation will only compound our difficulties and increase our troubles," he said. "All good citizens will learn to live with the statue and abide by its final adjudication even though we reserve the right to advocate by legal means its repeal or modification."

Sens. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., and A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., among others, fully supported Russell's plea and noted they had taken a similar stand earlier.

Ellender, who spoke out in Louisiana just after President Johnson signed the bill, said today that "so long as this is the law it must be obeyed. This will remain the law until it is modi-

Sheppard Expected To Leave Pen Today Under Federal Court Order

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, the "Doctor Sam" of one of the nation's most publicized murder cases, was expected to leave Ohio Penitentiary today on the strength of a federal court order.

He had won the release order after nearly 10 years of futile efforts to overturn his conviction in the slaying of his wife.

But the former osteopath, only months away from a possible parole, appears to have another battle coming up for even temporary freedom before a new trial.

U.S. Dist. Judge Carl A. Weinman in Dayton ruled Wednesday that the 40-year-old Bay Village suburbanite was denied his constitutional rights in his 1954 trial in Cleveland. The trial resulted in his conviction in the bludgeon slaying of Marilyn Sheppard.

Judge Weinman said Sheppard's custody is "void" and if Cuyahoga County or the state takes no action within 60 days the release becomes final.

Weinman's 86-page decision denounced the coverage given the case by three Cleveland newspapers and also mentioned three nationally known radio commentators and columnists.

The judge, acting on a request for a writ of habeas corpus, ordered Sheppard's release under $10,000 bond.

Cuyahoga County (Cleveland) Prosecutor John Corrigan, who handled the state's case in the trial 10 years ago, said he will ask for a stay of execution to prevent Sheppard's release. Ohio Atty. Gen. William Saxbe said the decision would be appealed.

"The state law says no one indicted for first-degree murder may be admitted to bail," Corrigan said in Cleveland. Sheppard was indicted on a first-degree murder charge but was found guilty Dec. 21, 1954, of murder in the second degree. He was sentenced to life but is eligible for parole this fall. Sheppard always has contended a "bushy-haired intruder" killed his wife the night of July 4, 1954.

Sheppard, according to the federal court, would be freed when he posts the $10,000 bond in Cleveland. Then a new trial would be set.

Weinman said Sheppard's constitutional rights were violated by these actions:

1. Failure of the trial judge to grant a change of venue for a continuance due to the great amount of publicity.

2. Inability of maintaining impartial jurors.

3. Failure of trial Judge Edward Blythin, now dead, to dis-

Gov. Scranton's Future Clouded

By RICHARD L. GRAVES

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The cloud of delegate votes that eclipsed William Warren Scranton's presidential nomination bid also cast a long shadow across his political future.

Politicians are loathe to inter the public career of any current office holder with the election record of the slim, affable Pennsylvania governor.

But at the same time there are facts that weigh heavily in an assessment of Scranton's prospects in the years ahead—particularly 1968, another presidential year.

No. 1 fact: Scranton is a governor who can not succeed himself.

Thus, his position is different from that of two other notable politicians who turned convention defeat into victory four years later—the late President John F. Kennedy and the new Republican presidential nominee, Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Kennedy, defeated at the 1956 Democratic convention in a bid for the vice-presidential nomination, came back like a whirlwind during the next four years to win the top spot and the election.

Goldwater was placed in nomination at the 1960 GOP convention, but withdrew in favor of front-runner Richard M. Nixon. The move set Goldwater up as a major contender four years later in the wake of Nixon's defeat by Kennedy.

But both men had a political base. Both were U.S. senators—one of the best forums in politics to use for political advancement.

But under Pennsylvania law Scranton may not succeed himself, though he could again run for office after an intervening term. Elected in 1962 by a margin of 486,000 votes, he now is in the middle of his four-year term.

That means the base of his political power—chief executive of a major state—will be cut off at the end of 1966. With one possible exception there would be no office open that year that he could seek as a springboard for 1968, should Goldwater fail to win this fall. There is no senatorial election in 1966.

Consequently, should Scranton have presidential aspirations in

Goldwater Earned It

Barry M. Goldwater has proved a point that needed no proving: You can't beat somebody with nobody.

By the time the people who dreamed about "stopping Goldwater" went into action, the contest for the Republican presidential nomination was over. A persistent hard-working man fired up by the heat of his convictions about public policy had nailed down what was rightfully his—what he had earned by working while the other potential candidates dawdled.

Only one other man was willing to work commensurately hard—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York. And it may well have been this very fact that made Sen. Goldwater work so hard.

IN 1960, after the Republican party had lost the election, Sen. Goldwater said that Gov. Rockefeller, who had forced his views on the party in its national convention that year, had been politically discredited.

He said conservatives should seek a realignment of the Republican party to get rid of me-too candidates and the liberal philosophy that produced them. He pointed out that Gov. Rockefeller hadn't been able to carry his own state for the Nixon-Lodge ticket and therefore was not to be reckoned with in future Republican deliberations.

Sen. Goldwater had said before the 1960 election that if this happened he would go after the Republican nomination in 1964. It happened. He went after the nomination. His diligence paid off.

No individual in U.S. politics ever made a more systematic bid for leadership of a political party than Barry Goldwater made, starting after election day in 1960. Compared with the work he put in, crisscrossing the country, building an organization, getting acquainted with the party leadership in all sections and cultivating the grass roots of party strength, Pennsylvania Gov. Scranton's last-minute efforts "to stop Goldwater" were puny.

THE QUESTION that looms for Sen. Goldwater and his backers now is whether they can galvanize the Republican party into the same efficiency that sewed up the presidential nomination long before the convention delegates reached San Francisco.

The party unity that everybody wishfully talks about never was further from actuality—not since Teddy Roosevelt's Bull Moose revolt.

But this in itself had been foreseen. It may become an asset in the Goldwater strategy of hammering out a new party alignment that would corral conservatives in one political camp, including conservatives in the no-longer-solid Democratic South.

The determined and knowledgeable men who nailed down the Republican presidential nomination in an unprecedented demonstration of political savvy have been thinking abut the campaign; that is certain

They have not worked this hard for the last three and a half years only to be caught short of ideas for turning their triumph to good account.

They are the winners and the new champions of Republican politics. From now on, their political moves will be watched with the respect that belongs to people who prove they can deliver on their promises.

Just One Foolish Thing

Ohio Turnpike Commission Chairman James W. Shocknessy says he does not know why 18 fatalities already have occurred on the state's toll road this year, as compared with 16 for all of last year.

He points out what everybody who uses the Turnpike knows — what everybody knows about these meticulously engineered modern highways. Everything possible has been done by the engineers to make them safe.

There has been complete separation of traffic. There are no blind curves. Clearly legible signs keep drivers informed of what to expect. Road surfaces are maintained in near-perfect condition.

Theoretically, an average driver in a vehicle with good tires and in good mechanical condition should be able to drive on the Ohio Turnpike indefinitely in perfect safety. But therein is the hitch.

Many Turnpike drivers are less than average. They do foolish things that would make them a hazard on any highway but make them especially hazardous on high-speed highways. And when they do these things, all reasonable expectations of security go awry, just as they did last Memorial Day on the Indianapolis Speedway when one miscue by one driver in his first Memorial Day race at Indianapolis precipitated a seven-car crash that killed him and another driver and injured four others.

Tit-For-Tat Point Of View

Televisionarles were impressed with the throaty roar of approval from the Republican convention when former President Eisenhower urged listeners "to scorn the divisive efforts of those outside our family, including sensation - seeking columnists and commentators, who couldn't care less about the good of our party."

There are endless variations on this theme of politicians running for editor, and this was one of them. Why the former president chose it we don't know. He, personally, had no reason to complain about the press while he was in the White House and has none now.

We suspect the roar of approval came from delegates and alternates who thought Barry M. Goldwater had been getting a bad break from columnists and commentators. It will be recalled that former Vice President Nixon, after he had lost his bid for governor of California, thought he had been given a bad break.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, after a honeymoon with columnists and commentators, bickered with them chronically. Harry Truman was profanely outspoken on occasion. Herbert Hoover wasted no love on the Fourth Estate, Calvin Coolidge held it at a safe distance and even Warren G. Harding, a Fourth Estater himself, handled it gingerly.

In a word, politicians, former politicians and their backers proverbially think they can run the press better than the people doing it, which is a tit-for-tat point of view. The press thinks it can make improvements in government, too.

Dear Nephew: Your Aunt Effie and I didn't go to Frisco for the GOP convention. I took her to an outdoor movie, instead. It was more fun. Held her hand the entire time to keep her from getting hungry.

Seriously, we watched the big show on the telly—the biggest show on earth. Talk about your candid camera. Even when these people are on guard they can make fools of themselves, though Republicans are not as extravertish as Democrats.

I want to make a prediction.

This will be the most-voted-in election in American history. It will be the way it was in the old days when voters believed the fate of the nation was hanging in the balance.

Your aunt and I haven't felt this way in recent years. Many people haven't felt this way. With one exception, when everybody talked about what a clever man Adlai E. Stevenson was, then voted for Gen. Eisenhower, presidential elections have been blurred over so confusingly people like us couldn't be sure what we were choosing between.

THIS TIME is going to be different. There's a clear choice. That's why people will vote. I will back this prediction with my Boy Scout honor. I will not back it with money, though. That would be against the law.

Your aunt and I think the showdown will have a good effect. It will nudge our government off dead center, where it has been stalled most of the time since the end of the first New Deal. Whichever way the election goes, the winner will be able to claim a mandate to do something.

The way it has been in recent years, no one could claim a mandate. John F. Kennedy was helpless as far as Congress was concerned. Lyndon Johnson has taken advantage of the shock that followed President Kennedy's assassination to push through part of the stalled Kennedy program, but everybody now will be waiting to see what happens in November.

This is what a two-party system is supposed to do—give the people a choice. Let's just say a few elections slipped by when there was little to choose between, then say it's going to be different this year.

THERE WILL be a choice. No matter which side you choose, your choosing is going to pack conviction. This is upsetting to people who have grown accustomed to custard and marshmallow instead of vinegar and barbed wire.

But for oldsters like us it is going to be a treat to see people turning out to express their convictions. This is the way it's supposed to be.

TO TELL the truth, I never took your aunt to a political convention. I went to one myself once when I was an alternate. That was a long time ago. It will be interesting to see if you can figure out which city it was when I tell you Calvin Coolidge, who didn't choose to run again, won the nomination. I didn't actually vote for Cal, because I didn't have a chance, but he was my kind of politician. He kept his mouth shut and let us hang ourselves in our own festoons, you might say.

I don't think he could have done anything to keep us from blowing bubbles anyway.

The Civil Rights Act will assure, as far as a law can, equal opportunity.

What is left is to assure the opportunity to be equal.

This is no play on words. The assurance of equal opportunity to those who are not equally prepared for it isn't worth very much.

This is why the nation commits itself not only to the elimination of unequal opportunity but also to an all-out attack on poverty. For poverty is the cause—no less than the result—of discrimination and disadvantage.

WE REALIZE more and more clearly that poverty and unemployment and lack of education constitute a cycle that children are born into.

There are more than 3 million children in families which are today receiving benefit payments under the Aid to Dependent Children programs. Forty per cent of these children are descended from grandparents who received this aid.

To paraphrase Mr. Justice Holmes, three generations of poverty are enough!

Almost a quarter of the boys being called up for the draft are being found unqualified for military service because of educational or mental deficiencies.

More than half of this group are sons of fathers who never completed grade school.

One in every five of them is from a family whose income is less than $40 a week. Eight per cent of these boys dropped out of school before finishing high school, usually for economic reasons.

A RECENT STUDY in one urban slum area shows that almost all the children there show average reading comprehension ability in the first grade but at the end of the third grade 30 per cent of them have dropped below the citywide average level, and at the end of the sixth grade 60 per cent are below.

The study traces this deterioration as much to the influence of unsatisfactory home conditions as to anything in the schools.

The clear evidence—from school drop out rates, unemployment figures, military draft rejection experience, juvenile delinquency and narcotics addiction data — is that we are adding between 250,000 and 300,000 boys and girls to a human waste heap every year.

This is not only contrary to everything we stand for; it is bad business. Each of these cast-offs will cost us, during his or her life as a dependent person, an average of $30,000. This means we are incurring a future debt every year of 7 to 9 billion dollars.

The Anti-Poverty bill which is now before the Congress will permit giving help of one kind or another to over 500,000 boys and girls during the next 12 months. It represents an investment we cannot afford not to make.

DURING A VISIT to one of the areas of Appalachia about a month ago I asked a 19-year-old girl, no longer in school, whether she was trying to find work. Her response was "Where?"

A week later I asked that same queston of a boy standing on a street corner in Harlem. His reply was "Why?"

These are our children. Their answers incriminate not them, but us. It is the reflection of our realization of this that we are now, at the height of our prosperity, declaring war on poverty. We are agreed that our success as a nation is measured by how few are left out of it.

Bad News For Johnson

By Joseph R. Slevin

President Johnson and his advisers are trying to decide what to say about the latest balance-of-payments developments.

The news is bad, for the critically important payments deficit took a turn for the worse in the second quarter. It is not a dangerous situation, but it is awkward to explain.

Johnson had a chance to alert the country to the deepening payments deficit at a recent news conference, but he limited himself to stressing a broad array of cheerful domestic economic figures.

The President's ignoring of the payments deficit contrasts markedly with his enthusiastic announcement of very favorable first-quarter results a bare four days after the quarter ended.

The deficit is a matter of lively discussion within the administration, because officials now are estimating that it jumped to an annual rate of almost $3 billion in the second quarter. Their working figure is four times bigger than the $700 million deficit that the U.S. posted during the opening three months of the year.

THE FIRST-QUARTER performance came as an exciting development.

The deficit rate was much smaller than officials had expected and far below the $3.3 billion deficit that the U.S. had registered in 1963.

The administration is trying to wipe out the payments gap since continued deficits would threaten the stability of the dollar. The payment deficit is the amount by which we spend, lend, and give away more than we collect from abroad. Foreign countries demand that part of each deficit be settled by payments from our dwindling gold reserves.

Administration officials hope that they may be able to offer some words of comfort when they obtain full information about what happened in the second quarter.

Johnson wants ammunition to fight off Republican campaign criticisms, and he is anxious to maintain the very substantial confidence in the dollar that has developed both at home and abroad during the last year.

The officials are stressing now that the January - June deficit rate is within a $1.5-$2 billion range that Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon has been predicting for all of 1964.

They urge that this half-year average be used instead of the big $700 million first-quarter improvement and the dismal $3 billion second-quarter slump.

Erratic capital movements distorted the first-and second-quarter figures. The officials emphasize that these are wiped out if the two quarters are added together.

But there were other fundamental changes during the second quarter, and the officials are not at all sure they will be able to explain these away when all of the facts are on hand.

ONE WORRISOME development is that our imports went up faster than our exports and U.S. foreign trade earnings were a substantial $1 billion a year smaller than in the first quarter.

Foreigners borrowed more heavily from U.S. commercial banks, and American companies sent more money overseas to finance their subsidiaries and to buy foreign firms.

Administration officials are genuinely confident that the deficit will shrink again in the third quarter. But there is general agreement that the events of the last three months demonstrate that the U.S. cannot relax its efforts to balance its international payments.

"There are no easy victories in this league," a high official declares.

People Back Home Tire Of Phony 'Liberalism'

SAN FRANCISCO — The real news of this convention is not merely the huge number of delegates who gave support to Sen. Goldwater but the intensity of their feeling and their reasons for it.

David Lawrence

Talks with leaders and delegates lead to the conclusion that the people back home are tired of phony "liberalism" in domestic affairs and wobbly opportunism in international affairs.

AT LEAST that's the way to sum up the expressions of criticism that are heard here and to explain the depth of feeling that exists.

What the rank and file of the delegates like about their party nominee is his utter candor and directness. For Sen. Goldwater hasn't backtracked or vacillated or done things to butter up any delegation.

There was, for instance, the question asked the Arizona senator by the Oregon delegates about "right to work" laws, and his reply stating his support for the right of individual states to pass such laws.

UNDER the existing federal statute, compulsory unionization to get or keep a job is permitted, but states may pass laws which forbid this.

Now the so-called "liberals" want the federal law changed so states cannot exercise the privilege of prohibiting compulsory unionization.

It seems odd that, at a time when "liberalism" is defined as including freedom of expression or freedom of belief or "freedom of association," there should be offered in the name of the "main stream" of liberal thought a proposal that all "right to work" laws be banned.

IN THE MINDS of many delegates, moreover, are some other important emotional issues that seem to be bothering the folks at the "grass roots."

There is much talk everywhere about the "civil rights" controversy. Generalities in platform planks do not obliterate the disturbed feeling which the people in many states have about the effects of the whole dispute.

The street demonstrations have done little good and lots of harm. They have served particularly to accentuate political differences in many communities.

In San Francisco this very week a judge sentenced the Negro who heads the local NAACP to a term of nine months in jail for participating in a "sit-in" demonstration that trespassed on private rights in an auto showroom.

THE JUDGE said the Negro was a well educated adult and should have obeyed the order to disperse.

Across the continent another judge, however, reversed an order that had enjoined the school authorities in New York City from sending children in buses from their own neighborhood to schools in other parts of the city so as to correct "racial imbalance."

This creates complex political issues as the big cities become more and more involved.

The Democrats for 30 years have been strong in the big cities of the East and Middle West, but now these same areas may split considerably and add their votes to the Republican majorities in the upstate sections.

ANOTHER ISSUE which the delegates say is bothering the people relates to war and peace.

Conditions in Viet Nam, for instance, are getting no better. In fact, the latest dispatches say the Communists have infiltrated deeply in South Viet Nam, and several provinces are in danger.

Sen. Goldwater repeatedly has said the American government has failed to assert a positive policy and now is being compelled to increase its military effort.

Will American boys have to be drafted for service in the war in Viet Nam? Many families have sons who might be affected.

THE CONVENTION here, by its platform declarations, shows its disapproval of many administration activities, and the majority of the delegates are convinced that Sen. Goldwater, as the nominee, will carry on forthrightly in the campaign and will gain votes because he doesn't equivocate on any issue.

So far as party dissension is concerned, the usual efforts to heal differences will be made. Gen. Eisenhower and former Vice President Nixon are trying to bring about unity.

But the real problem is back home where the divisions are the same as they have been for many years.

One faction really believes in doctrines espoused by the New Dealers and by the present-day Democrats. The other faction for a long time has been trying to convince the voters that opposition to interference with the rights of the states and to the growth of central government is truly Republican position.

THE LATTER group feels it now is about to win over to its side also many Democrats who don't like supergovernment and fiscal looseness, either.

The party conventions do the nominating, but the voters have the last world in the election process,and it is significant that the delegates here, for the most part, insist a real protest vote is in the making back home.

Goldwater Earned It

Barry M. Goldwater has proved a point that needed no proving: You can't beat somebody with nobody.

By the time the people who dreamed about "stopping Goldwater" went into action, the contest for the Republican presidential nomination was over. A persistent hard-working man fired up by the heat of his convictions about public policy had nailed down what was rightfully his—what he had earned by working while the other potential candidates dawdled.

Only one other man was willing to work commensurately hard—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York. And it may well have been this very fact that made Sen. Goldwater work so hard.

IN 1960, after the Republican party had lost the election, Sen. Goldwater said that Gov. Rockefeller, who had forced his views on the party in its national convention that year, had been politically discredited.

He said conservatives should seek a realignment of the Republican party to get rid of me-too candidates and the liberal philosophy that produced them. He pointed out that Gov. Rockefeller hadn't been able to carry his own state for the Nixon-Lodge ticket and therefore was not to be reckoned with in future Republican deliberations.

Sen. Goldwater had said before the 1960 election that if this happened he would go after the Republican nomination in 1964. It happened. He went after the nomination. His diligence paid off.

Administration officials hope that they may be able to offer some words of comfort when they obtain full information about what happened in the second quarter.

Johnson wants ammunition to fight off Republican campaign criticisms, and he is anxious to maintain the very substantial confidence in the dollar that has developed both at home and abroad during the last year.

The officials are stressing now that the January - June deficit rate is within a $1.5-$2 billion range that Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon has been predicting for all of 1964.

They urge that this half-year average be used instead of the big $700 million first-quarter improvement and the dismal $3 billion second-quarter slump.

Erratic capital movements distorted the first-and second-quarter figures. The officials emphasize that these are wiped out if the two quarters are added together.

But there were other fundamental changes during the second quarter, and the officials are not at all sure they will be able to explain these away when all of the facts are on hand.

ONE WORRISOME development is that our imports went up faster than our exports and U.S. foreign trade earnings were a substantial $1 billion a year smaller than in the first quarter.

Foreigners borrowed more heavily from U.S. commercial banks, and American companies sent more money overseas to finance their subsidiaries and to buy foreign firms.

Administration officials are genuinely confident that the deficit will shrink again in the third quarter. But there is general agreement that the events of the last three months demonstrate that the U.S. cannot relax its efforts to balance its international payments.

"There are no easy victories in this league," a high official declares.

Protest Vote Due?

People Back Home Tire Of Phony 'Liberalism'

SAN FRANCISCO — The real news of this convention is not merely the huge number of delegates who gave support to Sen. Goldwater but the intensity of their feeling and their reasons for it.

David Lawrence

Talks with leaders and delegates lead to the conclusion that the people back home are tired of phony "liberalism" in domestic affairs and wobbly opportunism in international affairs.

AT LEAST that's the way to sum up the expressions of criticism that are heard here and to explain the depth of feeling that exists.

What the rank and file of the delegates like about their party nominee is his utter candor and directness. For Sen. Goldwater hasn't backtracked or vacillated or done things to butter up any delegation.

There was, for instance, the question asked the Arizona senator by the Oregon delegates about "right to work" laws, and his reply stating his support for the right of individual states to pass such laws.

UNDER the existing federal statute, compulsory unionization to get or keep a job is permitted, but states may pass laws which forbid this.

Now the so-called "liberals" want the federal law changed so states cannot exercise the privilege of prohibiting compulsory unionization.

It seems odd that, at a time when "liberalism" is defined as including freedom of expression or freedom of belief or "freedom of association," there should be offered in the name of the "main stream" of liberal thought a proposal that all "right to work" laws be banned.

IN THE MINDS of many delegates, moreover, are some other important emotional issues that seem to be bothering the folks at the "grass roots."

There is much talk everywhere about the "civil rights" controversy. Generalities in platform planks do not obliterate the disturbed feeling which the people in many states have about the effects of the whole dispute.

The street demonstrations have done little good and lots of harm. They have served particularly to accentuate political differences in many communities.

In San Francisco this very week a judge sentenced the Negro who heads the local NAACP to a term of nine months in jail for participating in a "sit-in" demonstration that trespassed on private rights in an auto showroom.

THE JUDGE said the Negro was a well educated adult and should have obeyed the order to disperse.

Across the continent another judge, however, reversed an order that had enjoined the school authorities in New York City from sending children in buses from their own neighborhood to schools in other parts of the city so as to correct "racial imbalance."

This creates complex political issues as the big cities become more and more involved.

The Democrats for 30 years have been strong in the big cities of the East and Middle West, but now these same areas may split considerably and add their votes to the Republican majorities in the upstate sections.

ANOTHER ISSUE which the delegates say is bothering the people relates to war and peace.

Conditions in Viet Nam, for instance, are getting no better. In fact, the latest dispatches say the Communists have infiltrated deeply in South Viet Nam, and several provinces are in danger.

Sen. Goldwater repeatedly has said the American government has failed to assert a positive policy and now is being compelled to increase its military effort.

Will American boys have to be drafted for service in the war in Viet Nam? Many families have sons who might be affected.

THE CONVENTION here, by its platform declarations, shows its disapproval of many administration activities, and the majority of the delegates are convinced that Sen. Goldwater, as the nominee, will carry on forthrightly in the campaign and will gain votes because he doesn't equivocate on any issue.

So far as party dissension is concerned, the usual efforts to heal differences will be made. Gen. Eisenhower and former Vice President Nixon are trying to bring about unity.

But the real problem is back home where the divisions are the same as they have been for many years.

One faction really believes in doctrines espoused by the New Dealers and by the present-day Democrats. The other faction for a long time has been trying to convince the voters that opposition to interference with the rights of the states and to the growth of central government is truly Republican position.

THE LATTER group feels it now is about to win over to its side also many Democrats who don't like supergovernment and fiscal looseness, either.

The party conventions do the nominating, but the voters have the last world in the election process,and it is significant that the delegates here, for the most part, insist a real protest vote is in the making back home.

The first white settlement in Australia was established in 1788 at Botany Bay, as a penal colony for criminals from England. Transportation of criminals was virtually suspended in 1839, and Australia had comparatively few white settlers until gold was discovered in Victoria in 1851, after which immigration poured in. By 1860, all the states (then separate colonies), except Western Australia, had been granted responsible government.

dictated the choice of a candidate whose purpose is to divide rather than unify the country and whose philosophy has been described by his own party members as a menace to the peace and progress of America."

Goldwater, appearing on television after the convention had acted, pledged a vigorous but clean campaign against Johnson.

He will not engage in "a personal attack," the GOP nominee said, but will "campaign on the issues solely."

Goldwater's earlier assessment of Johnson Wednesday, however, had been that the Democratic president was "the biggest faker in the United States" and the "phoniest individual who ever came along." He made these comments in an on-the-run meeting with reporters.

Why did he want to be president, he was asked.

"The Republican cause needs a chance and the conservative cause needs a chance" to be presented to the voters. He said that foreign policy, "the abuse of law and disorder in this country," and the "the mounting crime rate" will be issues in the campaign.

The convention headed into a getaway session today at which it was scheduled to verify by its balloting Goldwater's choice of his running mate.

Goldwater's acceptance speech, on which he began work several days ago, would follow that of the vice presidential nominee's acceptance and wind up the convention.

The presidential candidate scheduled a meeting for Thursday with the GOP National Committee to tell members his choice for their new chairman. He was expected to be Denison Kitchel, Arizonan who has directed his campaign from the beginning.

With the party organization firmly in his control, Goldwater is expected to move later to call a summit meeting of party leaders. Presumably these would include Eisenhower, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Scranton, Rockefeller, Miller and various others.

57 Ohio Delegates Favored Goldwater

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Former U.S. Sen. John W. Bricker electrified the Republican National Convention Wednesday night with his announcement that all but one Buckeye delegate favored the nomination of Sen. Barry M. Goldwater.

The 57 votes cast for Goldwater by the Ohio delegation brought the Arizona hopeful within 15 votes of the total required for nomination.

The single individual who held out against Goldwater was not identified immediately.

In their caucus Monday morning, Buckeye delegates had indicated they would cast 42 votes for Goldwater, 13 for favorite son Gov. James A. Rhodes, 2 votes for Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania and 1 vote for Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine.

In the upshot Goldwater got 57 and Mrs. Smith 1.

W.Va. Delegation 12-2 For Goldwater

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — West Virginia was almost solidly in Sen. Barry Goldwater's corner today as he prepared to pick up his Republican presidential nomination at the national convention.

The delegation voted 12-2 for the Arizona senator late Wednesday night in the final adjustment of the first and only roll-call vote.

Scranton

1968, there would be a two-year gap in his public career.

The still young Scranton—he'll be 47 Saturday—is the multimillionaire scion of the family that gave the city of Scranton, Pa., its name.

With his private resources, plus his prestige as a former governor and presidential aspirant, Scranton probably could keep himself in the public eye on the lecture circuit and by writing articles.

No. 2 fact: Almost all Pennsylvania Republicans, starting with Scranton himself, feel that Goldwater's nomination means a desperate state campaign to salvage control of the legislature; maintain the present 14-13 GOP edge in congressional seats and re-elect Sen. Hugh Scott, Scranton's convention floor manager.

The one possible office Scranton might consider—and the prospects hinge on results this fall—would be his old congressional seat in Pennsylvania's 10th District.

The seat presently is held by Republican John McDade. But the district normally is Democratic. With Goldwater as the candidate Republicans fear they will lose it.

But old pros in the political world generally figure a man loses authority when he steps down in office.

Scranton, however, has said he wouldn't consider the House of Representatives a step down. Besides, he liked the job when he had it.

$4,750 Offer Seen Low On Midland Job

W. Paul Brooks and Son of Beaver Falls submitted the apparent low bid of $4,750 when the Midland Municipal Authority received offers Wednesday night on a project to tie in a section of a 14-inch main from the expanded water plant to an existing line on the Crucible Steel Co. property.

The Pitt Construction Co. of Pittsburgh bid $6,600 and the McShane Contracting Co., also of Pittsburgh, filed an offer of $7,358.

The baker firm also was authorized to advertise for bids on 5,000 gallons of fuel oil for use at the sewage treatment plant.

The bids will be opened at the next regular meeting Aug. 19.

Zagula Wins In Hancock's Party Battle

Atty. Edward A. Zagula of Weirton today has uncontested hold on the office of chairman of the Hancock County Democratic Executive Committee, following a ruling by the party's State Appeal Board in Charleston.

The state board ruled that Zagula is the party's legal chairman, replacing Dick Wright of near Chester, chairman since 1958 and a political leader in Hancock County for 30 years.

James Sprouse, state Democratic chairman, announced the ruling in Charleston Wednesday following a meeting of the Appeals Board on Tuesday.

Zagula had been elected chairman on June 2 by a dissident group that met in the County Courthouse at New Cumberland. About 13 members of the county Executive Committee voted to name Zagula, ousting Wright.

Wright closed the original meeting after it appeared he would be unable to retain his position in a showdown vote. He first asked members of the committee to produce certificates of election.

Wright claimed evidence was required of the election of the committee members. When they were unable to present credentials, he declared a vote would be impossible and said the meeting was closed.

Then the dissident group called its meeting and elected Zagula as chairman.

With Wright and Zagula both claiming the chairmanship, the dispute was referred to the party's Appeal Board for a decision.

In making the announcement, Sprouse said three private hearings on the dispute produced evidence that both men had indeed been elected — but at separate meetings attended only by their own factions.

He said Zagula's supporters numbered more than Wright's, so Zagula gets the job.

Dear Heloise: Help, quick. All of my pretty new bath towels look as if I had taken a pin and pulled the threads. What now?

MARION BRYAN.

DEAR MARION: Don't blame the manufacturer. I feel it is your washing machine or dryer. Look inside them (and for heavens sake, be sure they are turned off) and see if a little piece of porcelain is chipped off.

Thi often happens when someone puts a heavy buckle in the machine and it nicks the porcelain. Fabric will catch on this little nick, resulting in pulls in the material. Especially bath towels.

The easiest way to find the nick is to take an old, thin, nylon stocking and rub 'til you see the stocking snagging. From your litter and the sample cloth you sent, looks as if you have lots of big nicks.

The roughness of the nick can usually be mended satisfactorily by using porcelain mender which is ordinarily used on stoves.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I use pipe cleaners to close all my plastic refrigerator and freezer bags that are used for meats, bread, vegetables, etc. Also for dried foods in plastic packages on the pantry shelf. They're great. Try them.

MRS. RENICE CARPER.

DEAR HELOISE: When we go on a picnic we take along some detergent and a large watertight container of water.

After eating, we put the dishwashing soap and soiled tableware into the water. The trip home will serve as an automatic dish washer, so when you get home all you will have to do is rinse and dry the tableware. Saves time and energy.

AVID K. C. READER.

DEAR HELOISE: I started steaming leftovers for my baby and the results have been grand!

My baby's heating plate broke, so I use our egg poacher adapter in my frying pan to heat all of the little dabs of food which she must have for a meal.

Then to save time and dishes, I started putting leftover vegetables, scrambled eggs, and so on, in the refrigerator in small pyrex dishes.

When her mealtime comes I just set these dishes in a little water in that large frying pan . . . on goes the lid and the heat (just enough to simmer). the heat and everything is warm!

This method works equally well with larger amounts of food in larger pyrex dishes! No more dry or diluted leftovers at our house.

They have been moisturized!

This method saves pans for heating and it is amazing how quickly the food becomes warm.

Tonight a quart of goulash was ready in 15 minutes and tasted better than the first time around . . .

CHARLLE AVENELL.

DEAR HELOISE: In answer to all the girls who have trouble grasping the knobs on their kitchen doors when their hands are wet and slippery, I have a suggestion that works . . . .

Cut a circle of attractive adhesive - backed paper — big enough to cover the entire door knob. You will find that the pleats, where the paper overlaps, form "grippers" . . . whether your hands are soapy or dry, it's a simple matter to turn the door knob!

L. S. J.

DEAR HELOISE: Many times a stand-up collar on a sweater will give it a certain dash that a flat collar will not.

This can be accomplished by matching yarn and sewing them on the under side of the collar!

'Used To This,' She Says

Goldwater's Mother Calm On News Of Nomination

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The mother of Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater reacted camly when her son received the Republican presidential nomination.

Said Mrs. Baron (Josephine) Goldwater: "I've gotten so used to this that it doesn't bother me."

Nonetheless, for three days and nights, the 89-year-old woman has sat in front of her television set watching the San Francisco convention intently.

"I've been very much interested in these activities," she said.

Once a pioneer Arizona nurse, Mrs. Goldwater has remained strong. She lives with a woman companion, Susan Armstrong, formerly of Chicago, but moves about her two-story Phoenix home with authority.

She likes to do things for herself. As she reached for a cigarette Wednesday, a visitor offered to light it for her.

"No thank you," she declared. "I do that myself. I'm strong as a man."

The nominee's mother weighs 95 pounds and is 5-feet-5. Her voice is strong.

"All my life, I lived in a two-story house. Those stairs don't bother me," she said.

She said she never expected her son to seek the presidency, "but that's all right. I want him to do whatever he wants to do."

Now that Goldwater has won the GOP nomination, his mother worries a little about the future.

"Well, of course, since he's running, he's going to be elected," she said. "But it's such a thankless job."

Contractors Set Initial Work On Chester Project

Contractors for Chester's proposed new sewage disposal plant and sewer system have moved in some of their equipment and begun clearing land for the project.

However, work is not expected to begin until final arrangements are made on financing and legal work connected with the project, Mayor Harry Abrams reported today.

A hearing on proposed sewer and water rates is tentatively slated July 22 before the Public Service Commission at Charleston. Approval of the rates is required to complete details of the project.

The W. E. Downie Co. of Pol- and was awarded a $181,000 contract to build the sewage treatment plant in the City Park area in March and the R. K. McKee Co. of Columbiana was given the $151,000 contract for the interceptor sewer system.

Final arrangements for the City Park site have yet to be made with the City Park Commission.

Council will meet Tuesday night at 7:30 to consider action on the summer street program and other municipal matters, the mayor reported.

Plans for the annual joint picnic were completed at a meeting of the Wellsville Democratic Women's Club Wednesday night at the Carnegie Library.

The picnic will be Aug. 12, a week earlier than originally announced. It will be at the roadside park on Wells Ave. at 6:30 p. m. The Men's Democratic Club is invited.

Those attending are to take a coverdish and their own table service. Mrs. Grace Wilson, president, said the picnic will take the place of the regular meeting of the women next month.

'Used To This,' She Says

Goldwater's Mother Calm On News Of Nomination

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The mother of Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater reacted camly when her son received the Republican presidential nomination.

Said Mrs. Baron (Josephine) Goldwater: "I've gotten so used to this that it doesn't bother me."

Nonetheless, for three days and nights, the 89-year-old woman has sat in front of her television set watching the San Francisco convention intently.

"I've been very much interested in these activities," she said.

Once a pioneer Arizona nurse, Mrs. Goldwater has remained strong. She lives with a woman companion, Susan Armstrong, formerly of Chicago, but moves about her two-story Phoenix home with authority.

She likes to do things for herself. As she reached for a cigarette Wednesday, a visitor offered to light it for her.

"No thank you," she declared. "I do that myself. I'm strong as a man."

The nominee's mother weighs 95 pounds and is 5-feet-5. Her voice is strong.

"All my life, I lived in a two-story house. Those stairs don't bother me," she said.

She said she never expected her son to seek the presidency, "but that's all right. I want him to do whatever he wants to do."

Now that Goldwater has won the GOP nomination, his mother worries a little about the future.

"Well, of course, since he's running, he's going to be elected," she said. "But it's such a thankless job."

Women Get Pins At Award Event For Girl Scouts

A 10-year pin was presented to Mrs. Helen Rolley and a five-year pin was given Mrs. George Kemeny at an awards dinner of Girl Scout Troop 52 of Wellsville Tuesday night in the home of Mrs. Joyce Laughlin of Chester Ave., leader.

Debbie McCune, Linda Rogers, Jane Stevens and Bonnie Tarnovich also were given five-year pins.

Play and producer badges and hostess badges were received by Suzan DeSenze, Debbie Heiney, Judy Kemeny, Yvonne Martin, Debbie McCune, Barbara McGraw, Kathy Reed, Marianne Rivelle, Jeanette Roberts, Linda Rogers, Jane Stevens, Phyllis Surace, Bonnie Tarnovich, Joan Trainer and Janet Stover.

Games were the diversion, with prizes going to Suzan DeSenze and Joan Trainer. The hostess was assisted with the buffet dinner by Mrs. Rolley and Mrs. Rose Trainer, coleaders.

The troop plans to go to Packard Music Hall in Warren Aug. 1 to see "Sound of Music."

Wellsville CAP Unit Stages Drill Practice

Drill practice was held by the Wellsville Civil Air Patrol at a meeting Wednesday night at the Daw Junior High School.

The unit will march in the firemen's parade at Highlandtown.

Charles Pelley was elected finance officer. The unit announced it still is seeking trading stamps to use to secure an airplane. The stamps may be sent to Phillip Corsello of Wellsville R. D. 1.

The unit will meet again next Wednesday night at 7.

Contractors Set Initial Work On Chester Project

Contractors for Chester's proposed new sewage disposal plant and sewer system have moved in some of their equipment and begun clearing land for the project.

However, work is not expected to begin until final arrangements are made on financing and legal work connected with the project, Mayor Harry Abrams reported today.

A hearing on proposed sewer and water rates is tentatively slated July 22 before the Public Service Commission at Charleston. Approval of the rates is required to complete details of the project.

The W. E. Downie Co. of Pol- and was awarded a $181,000 contract to build the sewage treatment plant in the City Park area in March and the R. K. McKee Co. of Columbiana was given the $151,000 contract for the interceptor sewer system.

Final arrangements for the City Park site have yet to be made with the City Park Commission.

Council will meet Tuesday night at 7:30 to consider action on the summer street program and other municipal matters, the mayor reported.

Educator Claimed

OWENSBORO, Ky. (AP)—Walter John Peterson, 63, professor of economic and political science at Brescia College in Owensboro, was found dead in his home Wednesday, apparently the victim of a heart attack. Peterson, a native of Czechoslovakia, served in the Polish treasury department from 1927 until the beginning of World War II.

The most hits made by a major league baseball player in succession is a record held jointly by Mike Higgins, of the Boston Red Sox, and Walter Dropo, of the Detroit Tigers—both of whom slammed out 12 straight hits before finally being retired.

TAKING THE PLUNGE. When U.S. Navy torpedoman Ralph Klotz, of Park Ridge, Ill., married Duane "Sue" Meile in eleven feet of water, a new meaning was given to the phase "the sea of matrimony." The unusual wedding ceremony was the splash of Philadelphia's social life. Above, maid of honor Diana Langer hands the bride her bouquet.

Building Permits To Require State Agency Approval

No city building permits for commercial structures or for dwellings with more than three-family units will be issued until builders have received approval from state authorities, Mayor Merrill D. Hall said.

Hall established the rule after a conference with John Gephart of New Philadelphia, district inspector for the Division of Factory and Building Inspection of the State Department of Industrial Relations.

Gephart explained only new dwellings for one, two or three families are exempted from the state requirement.

In the future, information from applicants will be forwarded to Columbus for clearance before the local permit is issued by his office, Mayor Hall said.

2 Ohio Cities Cited On Airline Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board says 73 cities in the United States—two in Ohio—that receive local airline service fail to generate sufficient traffic to qualify for that privilege.

Airline reports to the CAB showed that among the cities that failed to generate at least five passengers a day are Findlay and Portsmouth, Ohio, served by Lake Central Airlines.

East Berlin and Bonn, respectively, are the capitals of East Germany and West Germany.

—And Personal, Too

Presidential Campaign Threatens To Be Tough

By JAMES MARLOW

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Is the 1964 presidential campaign going to be rough or not?

It has threatened to be rough —perhaps the roughest in years — and personal, too.

Just a few hours before he got the Republican presidential nomination last night Sen. Barry Goldwater went after President Johnson in a way both rough and personal.

And this was not the first time he got rough.

But after the nomination the senator pledged a vigorous but clean campaign and said he will conduct it solely on the issues and will not "engage in personal attack."

As the winner, relaxed and apparently happy with his success, he said on radio and television he knows Johnson's conduct of the campaign will "be like mine" and won't delve into "rumors and gossip."

Just how Johnson would react to a roughing up is not predictable. But no one has ever accused him of being a political patsy. He didn't get where he is being one. And he is very sensitive to criticism.

All week Republican orators had gone through the usual political convention routine with speeches ranging from high plateaus to jibes at Johnson and the Democrats. The Democrats will do the same in reverse at their convention in August.

But Goldwater, while waiting for the Republicans to name him their nominee, brought the whole business down to earth with a crash by telling newsmen Johnson "is the biggest faker in the United States—the phoniest individual who ever came along."

This writer has covered every convention of both parties since 1944 and cannot recall ever hearing any of the candidates over those 20 years using that kind of language.

Goldwater said this while criticizing Johnson's record on civil rights. The senator dared the President to make an issue of it, saying: "I will just read the thousands of words he has spoken against anti-poll tax legislation, the FEPC (Fair Employment Practices Commission) and equal accommodations."

He was talking of years past because the Constitution has been amended to outlaw the poll tax in federal elections. And Johnson pushed this year's Civil Rights Act which forbids discrimination in employment or in places of public accommodation.

(The FEPC was a World War II measure which Congress eliminated after the war. Despite proposals to restore it, it never was. The prohibition against discrimination in employment in the 1960 Civil Rights Act gives government less power than the wartime measure.)

Johnson, as Senate leader from 1955 to 1961, steered through the passage the Civil Rights Act of 1957—the first of its kind in this century—and the Civil Rights Act of 1960. Neither forbate discrimination in employment or accommodations.

Goldwater voted for the 1957 act, was absent during the final vote on the 1960 act, and voted against the 1964 act, a stand which may have helped his election chances in the South but brought him criticism from liberals and Republicans and particularly from Negroes.

Democrats, anxious for the Negro vote in the large cities of the North, were expected to make Goldwater's stand against the civil rights act an issue in the campaign if he got the nomination.

Less than two weeks ago Goldwater took another rough swipe at Johnson in listing what he said he considered the main issues in the campaign this year. He said one would be "the dark shadow of scandal that hangs over the White House itself."

He didn't explain at that time what he had in mind.

Cat With 5 Kittens Adopts Coyote Pup

Liz' owners, the Norman Nielsens, said they found the abandoned coyote pup on their ranch, north of Yerington. They took the pup home and put her with the house cat and her five kittens, just to see what would happen.

Liz took to the pup and let it nurse milk for about a month. Although the cat - coyote relationship was still going strong, the Nelisens say they will eventually put the coyote in a zoo.

Educator Claimed

OWENSBORO, Ky. (AP)—Walter John Peterson, 63, professor of economic and political science at Brescia College in Owensboro, was found dead in his home Wednesday, apparently the victim of a heart attack. Peterson, a native of Czechoslovakia, served in the Polish treasury department from 1927 until the beginning of World War II.

The most hits made by a major league baseball player in succession is a record held jointly by Mike Higgins, of the Boston Red Sox, and Walter Dropo, of the Detroit Tigers—both of whom slammed out 12 straight hits before finally being retired.

TAKING THE PLUNGE. When U.S. Navy torpedoman Ralph Klotz, of Park Ridge, Ill., married Duane "Sue" Meile in eleven feet of water, a new meaning was given to the phase "the sea of matrimony." The unusual wedding ceremony was the splash of Philadelphia's social life. Above, maid of honor Diana Langer hands the bride her bouquet.

Building Permits To Require State Agency Approval

No city building permits for commercial structures or for dwellings with more than three-family units will be issued until builders have received approval from state authorities, Mayor Merrill D. Hall said.

Hall established the rule after a conference with John Gephart of New Philadelphia, district inspector for the Division of Factory and Building Inspection of the State Department of Industrial Relations.

Gephart explained only new dwellings for one, two or three families are exempted from the state requirement.

In the future, information from applicants will be forwarded to Columbus for clearance before the local permit is issued by his office, Mayor Hall said.

2 Ohio Cities Cited On Airline Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board says 73 cities in the United States—two in Ohio—that receive local airline service fail to generate sufficient traffic to qualify for that privilege.

Airline reports to the CAB showed that among the cities that failed to generate at least five passengers a day are Findlay and Portsmouth, Ohio, served by Lake Central Airlines.

East Berlin and Bonn, respectively, are the capitals of East Germany and West Germany.

Presidential Campaign Threatens To Be Tough

By JAMES MARLOW

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Is the 1964 presidential campaign going to be rough or not?

It has threatened to be rough—perhaps the roughest in years — and personal, too.

Just a few hours before he got the Republican presidential nomination last night Sen. Barry Goldwater went after President Johnson in a way both rough and personal.

And this was not the first time he got rough.

But after the nomination the senator pledged a vigorous but clean campaign and said he will conduct it solely on the issues and will not "engage in personal attack."

As the winner, relaxed and apparently happy with his success, he said on radio and television he knows Johnson's conduct of the campaign will "be like mine" and won't delve into "rumors and gossip."

Just how Johnson would react to a roughing up is not predictable. But no one has ever accused him of being a political patsy. He didn't get where he is being one. And he is very sensitive to criticism.

All week Republican orators had gone through the usual political convention routine with speeches ranging from high plateaus to jibes at Johnson and the Democrats. The Democrats will do the same in reverse at their convention in August.

But Goldwater, while waiting for the Republicans to name him their nominee, brought the whole business down to earth with a crash by telling newsmen Johnson "is the biggest faker in the United States—the phoniest individual who ever came along."

This writer has covered every convention of both parties since 1944 and cannot recall ever hearing any of the candidates over those 20 years using that kind of language.

Goldwater said this while criticizing Johnson's record on civil rights. The senator dared the President to make an issue of it, saying: "I will just read the thousands of words he has spoken against anti-poll tax legislation, the FEPC (Fair Employment Practices Commission) and equal accommodations."

He was talking of years past because the Constitution has been amended to outlaw the poll tax in federal elections. And Johnson pushed this year's Civil Rights Act which forbids discrimination in employment or in places of public accommodation.

(The FEPC was a World War II measure which Congress eliminated after the war. Despite proposals to restore it, it never was. The prohibition against discrimination in employment in the 1960 Civil Rights Act gives government less power than the wartime measure.)

Johnson, as Senate leader from 1955 to 1961, steered through the passage the Civil Rights Act of 1957—the first of its kind in this century—and the Civil Rights Act of 1960. Neither forbate discrimination in employment or accommodations.

Goldwater voted for the 1957 act, was absent during the final vote on the 1960 act, and voted against the 1964 act, a stand which may have helped his election chances in the South but brought him criticism from liberals and Republicans and particularly from Negroes.

Democrats, anxious for the Negro vote in the large cities of the North, were expected to make Goldwater's stand against the civil rights act an issue in the campaign if he got the nomination.

Less than two weeks ago Goldwater took another rough swipe at Johnson in listing what he said he considered the main issues in the campaign this year. He said one would be "the dark shadow of scandal that hangs over the White House itself."

He didn't explain at that time what he had in mind.

Cat With 5 Kittens Adopts Coyote Pup

Liz' owners, the Norman Nielsens, said they found the abandoned coyote pup on their ranch, north of Yerington. They took the pup home and put her with the house cat and her five kittens, just to see what would happen.

Liz took to the pup and let it nurse milk for about a month. Although the cat - coyote relationship was still going strong, the Nelisens say they will eventually put the coyote in a zoo.

Hike And Tourist Handshake Back On White House Scene

WASHINGTON (AP) — The back yard hike and the tourist handshake are back on the White House scene.

President Johnson devoted about 90 minutes Wednesday to the kind of informality he has shied away from recently.

It started with an off-the-record chat and coffee with a score of newsmen present at the White House. Then came a walk twice around the circular drive at the rear of the executive mansion.

Several dozen tourists gathered at a locked iron gate to watch, and Johnson approached and greeted them, trying to shake all the offered hands.

He also had friendly pats for Him and Her, the two beagles he once was accused of mistreating by picking them up by the ears. Posing for pictures, he held the dogs up on their hind feet, but not by the ears.

WASHINGTON (AP)—More and better jobs for college-trained Negroes will be the goal of a meeting next week of representatives of major corporations and Negro colleges.

A spokesman for the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity, which called the meeting, said one aim is to establish regular contact between industry and the Negro colleges. Many of these schools do not now provide placement services for their graduates, he said, and many employment recruiters bypass schools without placement bureaus.

5. Unauthorized communications to the jury during deliberations.

Sheppard's attorney, F. Lee Bailey, was to arrive here this morning from Boston. According to procedure he could have Sheppard released to the Cuyahoga County Sheriff by presenting Weinman's court order.

"If ever there was a trial by newspaper, this is a perfect example," Weinman said. The judge said the Cleveland Press "took upon itself the role of accuser, judge and jury." He called it "the most insidious violator."

"Suffice it to say that each of the three Cleveland newspapers repeatedly printed material which strongly suggested and, in fact, urged petitioner's guilt," he said.

The other newspapers were the Cleveland Plain Dealer and the now defunct Cleveland News.

Weinman said Blythin erred "when he failed to question the jury regarding a broadcast by Robert (Bob) Considine which Weinman wrote "announced over the radio a comparison between petitioner and Alger Hiss." Hiss, a former State Department employe, was convicted of perjury during investigation into U.S. communism.

The judge said evidence indicated two of the jurors had heard a broadcast by Walter Winchell quoting a woman who said she was the mistress of Sheppard. And Weinman referred to stories by columnist Dorothy Kilgallen concerning a pretrial conversation she had with Judge Blythin.

Weinman's decision was announced just after Sheppard's 17-year-old son, Chip, had visited his father in the penitentiary here.

He had been taken to the prison by Ariane Tebbenjohanns, a German divorcee who says she will wed Sheppard when he is released.

Sheppard's pregnant wife was found dead on her bed in the early hours of July 5, 1954. She had been struck at least 35 times with a blunt instrument.

Sheppard, who reported the slaying, said he was struck as he chased the intruder from their Lake Erie front home.

The prominent osteopath was arrested July 30, was indicted Aug. 17 and the case came to trial Oct. 18.

Truck, Car Damaged As Parked Rig Drifts

A parked rental truck and a parked auto were damaged by a drifting tractor-trailer rig early this morning on E. 3rd St., police reported.

Damaged were the auto of Betty Heikkinen of Thompson Hotel and the rental van owned by Hertz Rental, Inc., of Sharon. The trucker, John R. Berry, 43, of Greensboro, N. C., told officers he parked about 3:30 a. m. near Walnut St. and had gone to a service station when he heard the air brakes release.

Berry said he saw his rig drift into the truck and shove it into the auto. Both were shoved on to the curb, police said. Berry was driving an outfit owned by Central Motor Lines, Inc., of Charlotte, N. C.

Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland, Hancock County coroner, said the inquest will be held next Thursday night at 7 at the Newell fire hall.

The investigation was in charge of Chief Deputy Joseph Rainey and Deputies Rex Cowey, Jim Knox, Irwin Higgs and Lester Wehner.

An Indiana woman was injured in another accident Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. on Route 66 about 400 yards south of the Nessley Chapel.

Deputies said a 1964 pickup truck driven by J. W. Frazier, 34, of Mishawaka, Ind., was struck by a car driven by Nick Berardenille of near New Cumberland.

Mrs. Robbie Frazier, 31, a passenger in her husband's truck, was examined and released at City Hospital.

Ike Defeated Taft For Nomination 12 Years Ago

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Just 12 years ago in Chicago Dwight D. Eisenhower, a soldier hero, defeated Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, a party stalwart, for the Republican presidential nomination.

Eisenhower, recalling Wednesday what went through his mind at the time, said that as the balloting began, friends and advisers in his hotel suite jotted down each delegation's vote.

"This bored me to pieces," he said.

In telling about this on an ABC television program for which he is a political consultant, Eisenhower said arrangements had been made for the Minnesota delegation to switch to him if this would put him over on the first ballot.

But Eisenhower said he was "so really unacquainted with what was happening in the convention" that when this occurred and his friends rushed to congratulate him and tell him he was in, "I was really baffled."

Eisenhower, who went on to win two terms as president, said he told his wife, Mamie, he thought the best thing for him to do was to call on Taft and she agreed. He called Taft and asked if he could come over to his hotel.

"His voice showed a little bit of amazement, but he said, 'Surely, come over'," Eisenhower recalled.

Getting through the crowds that packed the hotel and the streets "was one of the most exhausting experiences in my life," he said.

When he reached Taff's hotel, Eisenhower said, "there was a very great sadness, an emotional sadness. . . because some of the girls, you know, had tears running down their faces. . .

"I certainly felt no feeling of elation, none at all."

Eisenhower told how he and Taft chatted for a few minutes and posed for pictures. Then, he returned to his hotel where one of the first problems facing him was the selection of a vice presidential running mate.

At the top of a list he drew up, Eisenhower said, was the name of Richard M. Nixon.

Won U.S. Senate Seat

Barry's Political Career Launched In 1952 Upset

By BOB WOOD

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Low dirty-gray clouds blotted out the sun and an unusual December rain fell on the southern Arizona desert.

Gov. Howard Pyle and his friend, Phoenix businessman Barry Goldwater, argued as they made the 15-mile drive to suburban Glendale.

Pyle was convinced the Republicans should enter a strong candidate against Arizona's junior senator—Democrat Ernest McFarland.

True, McFarland was the Senate majority leader and, now late in 1951, at the height of his power. But Pyle believed the popularity of GOP presidential candidate Dwight D. Eisenhower and earlier Republican breakthroughs in Arizona added up to a possible victory in the 1952 election year.

Goldwater, Pyle argued, was the man who could turn the trick. The 42-year-old department store executive had been campaign manager for Pyle's successful gubernatorial bid and had won a seat on the Phoenix City Council in 1949 as a reform ticket candidate.

The Goldwater name was no stranger to Arizonans. Barry's grandfather—Big Mike—had, in 1867, built a trading post on the banks of the Colorado River along the Arizona- California border.

His uncle Morris had opened a store in the old territorial capital of Prescott and served the city for 26 years as its Democratic mayor. His father—Baron—had started the Phoenix branch of the expanding Goldwater department store empire.

Barry was an Arizona native, born in Phoenix on a cool and clear New Year's Day 1909.

He had attended a Phoenix elementary school; helped, at the age of 12, build the first commercial radio station in Phoenix; learned to fly when it still was a dangerous business; shot the treacherous Colorado River rapids in a wooden boat six times; discovered and photographed an unexplored natural bridge deep in the Grand Canyon; overcome five barriers to gain his Air Force wings; and won sports championships despite two injured knees.

When his college days at the University of Arizona ended after one year because of his father's death, he stepped in to manage the store. He became active in civic affairs and an accomplished public speaker.

He had a deep interest in government and often stunned his audience with an opening attack against those who fail to vote.

Pyle pointed out all these factors as he argued and needled.

By the time the governor had reached the Rotary Club meeting where he was to speak, Barry Goldwater had agreed to be the Republican senatorial candidate.

From that soggy drive of 12 years ago, Goldwater has been carried to a cluttered, crowded 15th-floor hotel room in San Francisco.

Here, behind closed doors in his suite, he watched Wednesday night on television his nomination as the 1964 Republican presidential candidate.

Goldwater opened his 1952 campaign in Prescott, the home of his beloved Uncle Morris. Many of the people had known little Barry and came out to see what kind of a politician he would make. There were no traffic jams caused by the audience.

Goldwater promises to open his presidential bid this year in the same northern Arizona community.

This time, Prescott officials have been advised there will be at least 12 chartered airplanes arriving and the 15,000 population probably will be doubled the day of the speech.

Back in 1952, no one gave Barry Goldwater a chance to unseat the popular McFarland. No one but Goldwater.

By midnight the issue was decided. Goldwater had won by 7,000 votes.

He also had taken the first step on a road that led to national prominence.

Scranton's Daughter Looks For Goldwater

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—One of the first to show up at the hotel headquarters of Sen. Barry Goldwater early today was Susan Scranton.

Apparently no one recognized the tall 18-year-old daughter of Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton. She had been in tears a short time earlier when her father lost the GOP presidential nomination.

Her voice hoarse but her smile bright, she strode up to the reception desk on the floor below the Goldwater suite and said:

"Where do I get a Goldwater button?"

Ike Defeated Taft For Nomination 12 Years Ago

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Just 12 years ago in Chicago Dwight D. Eisenhower, a soldier hero, defeated Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, a party stalwart, for the Republican presidential nomination.

Eisenhower, recalling Wednesday what went through his mind at the time, said that as the balloting began, friends and advisers in his hotel suite jotted down each delegation's vote.

"This bored me to pieces," he said.

In telling about this on an ABC television program for which he is a political consultant, Eisenhower said arrangements had been made for the Minnesota delegation to switch to him if this would put him over on the first ballot.

But Eisenhower said he was "so really unacquainted with what was happening in the convention" that when this occurred and his friends rushed to congratulate him and tell him he was in, "I was really baffled."

Eisenhower, who went on to win two terms as president, said he told his wife, Mamie, he thought the best thing for him to do was to call on Taft and she agreed. He called Taft and asked if he could come over to his hotel.

"His voice showed a little bit of amazement, but he said, 'Surely, come over'," Eisenhower recalled.

Getting through the crowds that packed the hotel and the streets "was one of the most exhausting experiences in my life," he said.

When he reached Taff's hotel, Eisenhower said, "there was a very great sadness, an emotional sadness. . . because some of the girls, you know, had tears running down their faces. . .

"I certainly felt no feeling of elation, none at all."

Eisenhower told how he and Taft chatted for a few minutes and posed for pictures. Then, he returned to his hotel where one of the first problems facing him was the selection of a vice presidential running mate.

At the top of a list he drew up, Eisenhower said, was the name of Richard M. Nixon.

Won U.S. Senate Seat

Barry's Political Career Launched In 1952 Upset

By BOB WOOD

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Low dirty-gray clouds blotted out the sun and an unusual December rain fell on the southern Arizona desert.

Gov. Howard Pyle and his friend, Phoenix businessman Barry Goldwater, argued as they made the 15-mile drive to suburban Glendale.

Pyle was convinced the Republicans should enter a strong candidate against Arizona's junior senator—Democrat Ernest McFarland.

True, McFarland was the Senate majority leader and, now late in 1951, at the height of his power. But Pyle believed the popularity of GOP presidential candidate Dwight D. Eisenhower and earlier Republican breakthroughs in Arizona added up to a possible victory in the 1952 election year.

Goldwater, Pyle argued, was the man who could turn the trick. The 42-year-old department store executive had been campaign manager for Pyle's successful gubernatorial bid and had won a seat on the Phoenix City Council in 1949 as a reform ticket candidate.

The Goldwater name was no stranger to Arizonans. Barry's grandfather—Big Mike—had, in 1867, built a trading post on the banks of the Colorado River along the Arizona- California border.

His uncle Morris had opened a store in the old territorial capital of Prescott and served the city for 26 years as its Democratic mayor. His father—Baron—had started the Phoenix branch of the expanding Goldwater department store empire.

Barry was an Arizona native, born in Phoenix on a cool and clear New Year's Day 1909.

He had attended a Phoenix elementary school; helped, at the age of 12, build the first commercial radio station in Phoenix; learned to fly when it still was a dangerous business; shot the treacherous Colorado River rapids in a wooden boat six times; discovered and photographed an unexplored natural bridge deep in the Grand Canyon; overcome five barriers to gain his Air Force wings; and won sports championships despite two injured knees.

When his college days at the University of Arizona ended after one year because of his father's death, he stepped in to manage the store. He became active in civic affairs and an accomplished public speaker.

He had a deep interest in government and often stunned his audience with an opening attack against those who fail to vote.

Pyle pointed out all these factors as he argued and needled.

By the time the governor had reached the Rotary Club meeting where he was to speak, Barry Goldwater had agreed to be the Republican senatorial candidate.

From that soggy drive of 12 years ago, Goldwater has been carried to a cluttered, crowded 15th-floor hotel room in San Francisco.

Here, behind closed doors in his suite, he watched Wednesday night on television his nomination as the 1964 Republican presidential candidate.

Goldwater opened his 1952 campaign in Prescott, the home of his beloved Uncle Morris. Many of the people had known little Barry and came out to see what kind of a politician he would make. There were no traffic jams caused by the audience.

Goldwater promises to open his presidential bid this year in the same northern Arizona community.

This time, Prescott officials have been advised there will be at least 12 chartered airplanes arriving and the 15,000 population probably will be doubled the day of the speech.

Back in 1952, no one gave Barry Goldwater a chance to unseat the popular McFarland. No one but Goldwater.

By midnight the issue was decided. Goldwater had won by 7,000 votes.

He also had taken the first step on a road that led to national prominence.

Goldwater Skips Baby-Kissing

By GEOFFREY GOULD

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Barry Morris Goldwater has his own ideas about presidential campaigning — and almost everything else.

"I'm not one of those baby-kissing, hand-shaking, blintz-eating candidates," he said once. "I don't like to insult the American intelligence by thinking that slapping people on the back is going to get you votes."

When a crowd chanted, "We Want Barry" for 10 minutes at a Madison Square Garden rally in New York, Goldwater finally shouted impatiently, "You'll get him if you'll just be quiet." It was not the usual response of a politician to a cheering throng.

By his own account, Goldwater is bucking the trend of history, seeking the White House as a senator from the small- population Western state of Arizona.

He goes where he wants when he wants, sometimes ignoring what his political advisers regard as pressing local campaign chores.

More than a year ago he said, "I've never done anything to get the nomination, and yet all of a sudden everyone wants to thrust it on me." He used to talk of "the president thing" as though he couldn't quite believe it.

But last Jan. 3, Goldwater, 55, announced he was going after the top job. Now he says, "I wouldn't have got into this if I didn't really want it."

But an aide said, "However, he has no overwhelming desire to be president. If he thought there was another conservative who could do the job he'd be glad to have him do it."

Goldwater is no spellbinder on the platform. He delivers some of his toughest campaign attacks in a near-monotone. But sometimes he is eloquent.

"I want to help my country," he told one crowd. "I want to work for it. I want to pay my rent for a Polish grandfather who came to this country through England. I just want to help."

Without a text, Goldwater's words sometimes run away with him. In a Reno television interview, he was asked if he had said something attributed to him. "Not in my most lucid moments," he replied.

He was once quoted as saying he wasn't sure he had "the brains to be the president." Asked about it at Minneapolis, he said, "I've done all right in my life. I don't have a Phi Beta Kappa key, but I hire them." He had a year at the University of Arizona, but quit to join the family department store in Phoenix.

An introvert in a family of extroverts, she says she worries that she might "say something wrong" in an interview and she's "scared to death" about making a speech.

"I'll be with him wherever he goes, but I don't make speeches," she said.

Goldwater's sons, Barry Jr., 26, and Michael, 24, have taken leave from their jobs to help in the campaign. The Goldwaters also have two daughters, Mrs. Thomas H. Ross and Mrs. Richard Arlen Holt.

It is a closely - knit family, with a tradition of the Western outdoors. They did a lot of camping and riding, and Barry Jr. is an aviator like his father. The senator is checked out for military jets and is a major general in the Air Force Reserve.

In his hilltop home outside Phoenix he maintains an elaborate ham radio setup. He's just plain Barry to fellow radio hams. If he gets to the White House, he says, he'll take the transmitter with him "and the handle will still be Barry".

The home, called Be-Nun-I-Kin-Navajo for house-on-top-of-the hill—is a $150,000 gadget-filled showplace, designed in triangle shapes by an architect who said he was planning "a rough-hewn house for a rough-hewn guy".

Goldwater traces his ancestry to pioneer stock. His grandfather crossed the desert from California to Arizona to found the family department store. One of the senator's favorite campaign lines: "How he did it without federal aid, I'll never know."

The senator's father was Jewish. The elder Goldwater married a Nebraska nurse named Josephine Williams. The senator, his brother Robert and sister Caroline were raised in their mother's Episcopal faith. His mother is close to 90.

Goldwater's sons, Barry Jr., 26, and Michael, 24, have taken leave from their jobs to help in the campaign. The Goldwaters also have two daughters, Mrs. Thomas H. Ross and Mrs. Richard Arlen Holt.

It is a closely - knit family, with a tradition of the Western outdoors. They did a lot of camping and riding, and Barry Jr. is an aviator like his father. The senator is checked out for military jets and is a major general in the Air Force Reserve.

In his hilltop home outside Phoenix he maintains an elaborate ham radio setup. He's just plain Barry to fellow radio hams. If he gets to the White House, he says, he'll take the transmitter with him "and the handle will still be Barry".

The home, called Be-Nun-I-Kin-Navajo for house-on-top-of-the hill—is a $150,000 gadget-filled showplace, designed in triangle shapes by an architect who said he was planning "a rough-hewn house for a rough-hewn guy".

Goldwater traces his ancestry to pioneer stock. His grandfather crossed the desert from California to Arizona to found the family department store. One of the senator's favorite campaign lines: "How he did it without federal aid, I'll never know."

The senator's father was Jewish. The elder Goldwater married a Nebraska nurse named Josephine Williams. The senator, his brother Robert and sister Caroline were raised in their mother's Episcopal faith. His mother is close to 90.

More Prizes Presented In Midland Fete

Additional prize-winners in the annual July 4th celebration at Midland have been announced by the Executive Committee.

The additional winners were announced Tuesday night when the committee met at the Borough Building with Mayor Eli Corak, general chairman, presiding.

Sixteen entries will receive prizes of $10 each. A donation of $65 was made to the community Halloween party and parade sponsored by Midland American Legion Post 481.

Unts receiving additional prizes were the Scot-ettes and Spinnette Baton Corps, both of Beaver Falls, the Rita Spanik School of Dance of Midland, the marching group of the Sanford Dance Studio of East Liverpool.

The Vi-Lar Kadettes and Boston's Swinging Sweethearts, both of East Liverpool, the Anne-Rochell Annettes of Midland - Fairview, the Realtor-Ettes of Wellsville, the New Brighton Twirlettes.

The East Liverpool Civil Defense unit, Junction City Veterans of Foreign War Auxiliary 128 of Rochester, Mike Paulovich of Smiths Ferry, for his 1923 Tangley Caliope and 1925 Model T Ford, John Sell of East Liverpool, for his 1931 Hudson, and the Trailblazers of the Hookstown 4-H Club.

The committee also approved the payment of all bills and prizes for floats and drum and bugle corps unit winners as announced on July 4. Checks for all winning groups should be in the mail in the next two weeks.

Mayor Corak expressed his thanks to all those who worked to make the event a success. Several suggestions were made for next year's event, including building interest in more organizations to enter parade floats by increasing float prizes, and deleting the street dance.

It was also suggested that all baton groups should not perform during the parade and before the judge's stand. The next meeting will be in February.

Hamburger Stroganoff Is Convenient Dish

Just a single utensil — a skillet — is all you'll need to use in preparing Hamburger Stroganoff, one of the tastiest dinner dishes you'll ever discover and certainly one of the easiest to prepare.

Convenience sauce mixes simplify the preparation of Hamburger Stroganoff, which elevates ground beef to higher status. There's no fussing, no measuring and, happily, no chance whatsoever of botching this usually difficult - to - prepare type of dish.

HAMBURGER STROGANOFF

1 pound ground beef
1¾ cups water
1 package chicken gravy mix
1 package sour cream sauce mix
2 tablespoons instant chopped onion
⅛ teaspoon garlic powder
⅛ teaspoon ground black pepper
1 can (4 oz.) sliced mushrooms
Parsley flakes

Brown meat, add water, then stir in sauce mixes. Add onion, garlic powder, pepper and mushrooms and simmer for 10 minutes. Serve, garnished with parsley flakes, on hot buttered noodles. Serves four or five.

City Youth Sentenced On Burglary Charges

An East Liverpool youth was sentenced and a Newell resident was given probation by Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp at Lisbon Wednesday afternoon on charges of burglarizing the Iron City Distributing Co. on S. Market St. on Sept. 17, 1963.

Ronald Lee Adkins, 19, of Tip Top Alley was sentenced to 1-15 years at the Ohio Reformatory at Mansfield. Gerald Lee Grimm, 22, of Newell, was placed on five years' probation.

Grimm pleaded guilty to the charge and Adkins was convicted by a jury May 8. Both had been free on $1,000 bond pending the outcome of probation investigations.

2 To Play With Band At Scouts' Jamboree

Two East Liverpool youths are attending the National Boy Scout Jamboree at Valley Forge, Pa., as members of the Region Boy Scout Band.

They are Bill Brown, a member of Post 12, and Ned Craven, a member of Troop 41.

Ex-Governors, Incumbents Meet

Varied Reactions Mark Mission On Civil Rights

By DON MCKEE

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Three former Southern governors encountered cold, cool and warm reactions in their civil rights law advisory mission to five incumbent Southern governors.

A sixth chief executive, Gov. Donald Russell of South Carolina, brushed aside a meeting with the group. He said he did not invite them to his state.

None of the other governors saw any need of help from the special team, headed by LeRoy Collins, director of the new Community Relations Service set up to help in problems arising from the civil rights law.

Collins is a former Florida governor. With him on the tour were Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges, former North Carolina governor, and Buford Ellington, former Tennessee governor.

They got the same message everywhere—in effect—, "Everything is fine here. Don't call us, we'll call you."

Perhaps the most favorable reaction came from Gov. Terry Sanford of North Carolina. He called the visit a "mission of good will."

"I'm impressed that the service is not an enforcement agency. It will serve to better relations of good will," Sanford said.

Sanford also urged compliance with the new law.

Rain Curtails Graham Sermon

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham told an audience estimated at 28,000 persons in a rain-curtailed sermon Wednesday night that "if you say there is a God, all the evidence is on your side."

Graham, who used the third chapter, 16th verse of John as his text on the sixth night of his 10-day Ohio Crusade, spoke only 18 minutes.

Before rain washed out the Jet Stadium activities, an estimated 700 "inquirers" came forward after the sermon.

Graham said he cannot prove the existence of God: "I cannot put Him in a test tube and subject Him to tests." He said, however, that the atheistic professor has a right to say there is no God, but he cannot prove there is no God.

Continuance Set For Man Cited In Television Theft

A hearing for a city man accused of stealing a $25 television set from the Salvation Army building on E. 3rd St. was continued today in Municipal Court until Tuesday when he asked time to obtain counsel.

Judge Samuel M. Chertoff set bond at $500 for Frank Hanlon, 112 W. Center Ln., on the petty larceny charge.

Hanlon has admitted taking the set on July 8 with some juveniles and carrying it to his home, Police Capt. R. H. Pyle said. The set was recovered Tuesday at the defendant's home, he added.

No action has been taken yet against the juveniles, Capt. Pyle said.

A jig saw, band saw, two electric motors and welding torch are missing from the building, but Hanlon has denied any knowledge of them, the officer continued. All the items were the personal property of Maj. William Hathorn, head of the local Salvation Army unit.

Church Program Set

IRONDALE—Oscar Shaw and The Christianaires of the Minerva Christian Church will sing at a service at the Grant's Hill United Presbyterian Church Sunday night at 8. Douglas Logan will speak. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Barnett and Mrs. Shirley Dallas will lead congregational singing.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a psychology major who seems perfectly competent when it comes to handling other people's problems but I can't seem to handle my own.

My friends call me the poor girls' Ann Landers. Everyone pours out his troubles to me because I'm so "patient, so understanding, so easy to talk to."

At parties I'm always stuck with the bores and the drunks who have no terminal facilities. They corner me and unravel stories of unrequitted love, miserable relatives and the secret fears and doubts they just "couldn't discuss with anyone else."

Frankly, I'm sick of it. My ears are tattered and torn. What can I do?—CORNERED CORA.

-:-

Dear Cornered: Paste up those tattered ears and stay with it, Honey. The world needs you.

The good listener, like the whooping crane, is a vanishing breed. Everyone wants to talk but few people are willing to listen.

I know about such things, because I hear from thousands of people every day who need to unburden themselves. Just listening can be a service.

Independent Mother

Dear Ann: Our 83-year - old mother is alert, pleasant and has a world of friends. She was getting along well until her companion and housekeeper died of a heart attack. The woman was only 67 and mother was deeply disturbed by her death. She now wants to move into a home for the aged.

My two sisters and I have offered mother a place in one of our homes but she is very stubborn. She promised herself years ago she would never live with her children and nothing can change her mind.

Frankly, Ann, we think these rest homes are all right for people who have no other place to go, but when a mother has children right in town, it looks to outsiders as if they don't want to take her in.

Will you please tell her she is wrong and we are right?—LOVING DAUGHTERS.

-:-

Dear Daughters: I suspect you girls are primarily concerned with what people will say rather than how your mother feels.

She sounds like a wonderful woman and a smart cookie. I'm with her.

Clings To Baby Ways

Dear Ann: Will you please tell us what to do about a 12-year-old boy who still sucks his thumb?

Hugh is a good student and a fine athlete. We have never had any problems with him. He gets along fine with neighbors, friends and relatives. He started to suck his thumb when he was an infant and has never stopped.

When Hugh was 4 years old I spoke to our doctor about his thumb-sucking and he advised me to ignore it. A few years later I spoke to the doctor again because I had heard that thumb - sucking makes teeth grow in crooked. He said, "Nonsense. Forget it."

We have not mentioned this to Hugh in years but it is disconcerting to know that a 12-year-old boy is going to sleep every night with his thumb in his mouth. Do you have any advice?—M. L.

Dear M. L.: Your doctor gave you good advice.

Parents should never shame, scold or threaten a child who sucks his thumb. Concentrate on giving the boy more attention and praise — and reassurance that he is loved. He clings to this childish habit because it gives him a feeling of security.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self -addressed envelope.

Bringing Up A Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Parents Should Inspire Child To Read

All of us parents would like our children to rise in interest above the clods, above the level of the brute. We greatly influence their interests through our own. Some who read this column have college or university degrees, some others have not gone beyond high school or sixth or eighth grade. Yet some of the latter group read, see, listen to and think about matters on a higher intellectual level than some of the former group. There are so many media of information and challenge to thinking that anyone who can read fairly well can use them for intellectual self-improvement.

Dr. Garry Myers

It's a tragedy that so many highly educated parents read and listen to so little that is serious and thought-provoking or on a higher level of art and music than the clods. They hardly can inspire their children with any higher interests.

—:—

I HAVE LONG believed that the average scientist, mathematician, engineer and others of technical specialities should read more poetry and fiction and hear more good music and see more fine art than they do. Also that the adult of average education, if able to read fairly well, should read much more serious matter and see and hear more serious programs on the air than he does.

From my observations, the average father and mother, able to do so, reads an appallingly small proportion of serious articles in magazines, serious books or rarely listens to informative and thought-provoking programs on the air, or the great symphonies and dramas.

Often I think of all the brainy fathers and mothers who rarely read editorials of their newspaper or the non-fiction articles of their favorite magazines. Reading of such affords them much to talk about in the family with growing children. How little in comparison do they get for discussion from fiction and the photo pages!

A FEW OF my readers have joined one of the Great Book Clubs or served on panels in their respective clubs in discussion of serious problems based on serious reading and thinking.

While we parents need to read and hear some programs for mere relaxation and passing pleasure, how can we afford to spend most of our spare time on the trivial if we wish to contribute most to the best education of our children?

Help your child to become a skillful reader, inspire him by precept and example to read good books, factual as well as fictional, and you may make him the "heir of all the ages."

My bulletins, "Home Helps for Poor Readers I & II" may be had by sending a self-addressed, U. S. stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Teachers Due Pay Boost In Rhodes' Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Public school classroom teachers are next in line to benefit from Gov. James A. Rhodes' program for translating state savings into pay increases for state employes.

Officials said today the administration is working on a formula to determine how many of the 90,000 qualified teachers would receive what are described as "substantial increases." The total includes principals and special instructors.

Under present plans, only teachers who actually provide classroom instruction would be recommended for raises in legislation to be sponsored in the 106th General Assembly meeting next January.

By that time, Ohio expects to have an inherited $83 million debt paid off and be able to tap liquor monopoly profits approximating $45 million a year for teacher pay raises.

Administration spokesmen say the increases in addition to those recently announced for state employes, could be made without new or increased taxes because state operating expenses have been held below the level of general fund appropriations.

Early this month Rhodes estimated that raises announced for highway patrolmen and employes in health, hospital and correctional occupations, in addition to some previous upgrading, would mean a further outlay of about $7 million a year for approximately 15,000 workers.

Officials said the Emergency Board would be asked to make available the balance needed for all raises, including some for about 500 other employes in the classifications benefited but working elsewhere in state agencies.

They hastened to point out that no over-all money problem faces the state because sufficient funds are on hand to cover pay raises already made or scheduled during the next six months, as well as others expected to be allowed through requests.

Rural Carriers Elect Officers

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Rural Letter Carriers Association, concluding its 62nd annual convention here, Wednesday elected Murray Lohr, of London, president.

In its final session the association passed several resolutions, including asking the Ohio Legislature to enact bills permitting township trustees to maintain mailbox approaches on township roads and to require financial liability before obtaining a driver's license.

Akron was designated as the site for the 1965 convention.

Other officers elected include Lester Miller, Rockford, vice president; George C. Berens, Bolivar, secretary; Donald Westfall, Shreve, treasurer, and Kenneth Kingrey, Willow Wood, committeeman.

The group's ladies' auxiliary elected Mrs. William Brown, Bloomingdale as its president.

County Health Board To Convene Monday

Dr. C. S. Palmer, health commissioner, said the board will discuss the recent resignation of Dr. Leonard S. Pritchett of Columbiana as a member of the board. The board also will give further study to the state plumbing code, he said.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a psychology major who seems perfectly competent when it comes to handling other people's problems but I can't seem to handle my own.

My friends call me the poor girls' Ann Landers. Everyone pours out his troubles to me because I'm so "patient, so understanding, so easy to talk to."

At parties I'm always stuck with the bores and the drunks who have no terminal facilities. They corner me and unravel stories of unrequitted love, miserable relatives and the secret fears and doubts they just "couldn't discuss with anyone else."

Frankly, I'm sick of it. My ears are tattered and torn. What can I do?—CORNERED CORA.

-:-

Dear Cornered: Paste up those tattered ears and stay with it, Honey. The world needs you.

The good listener, like the whooping crane, is a vanishing breed. Everyone wants to talk but few people are willing to listen.

I know about such things, because I hear from thousands of people every day who need to unburden themselves. Just listening can be a service.

Independent Mother

Dear Ann: Our 83-year - old mother is alert, pleasant and has a world of friends. She was getting along well until her companion and housekeeper died of a heart attack. The woman was only 67 and mother was deeply disturbed by her death. She now wants to move into a home for the aged.

My two sisters and I have offered mother a place in one of our homes but she is very stubborn. She promised herself years ago she would never live with her children and nothing can change her mind.

Frankly, Ann, we think these rest homes are all right for people who have no other place to go, but when a mother has children right in town, it looks to outsiders as if they don't want to take her in.

Will you please tell her she is wrong and we are right?—LOVING DAUGHTERS.

-:-

Dear Daughters: I suspect you girls are primarily concerned with what people will say rather than how your mother feels.

She sounds like a wonderful woman and a smart cookie. I'm with her.

Clings To Baby Ways

Dear Ann: Will you please tell us what to do about a 12-year-old boy who still sucks his thumb?

Hugh is a good student and a fine athlete. We have never had any problems with him. He gets along fine with neighbors, friends and relatives. He started to suck his thumb when he was an infant and has never stopped.

Ford Pitches Yanks Into Lead, Blanks Orioles, 2-0

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Whitey Ford of the New York Yankees has pitched his seventh shutout of the season. But he allowed only three hits.

That's the easy way.

For a real spectacular achievement, there's Jim Grant of the Minnesota Twins, who pitched his first shutout of the season.

He allowed 13 hits.

Ford hurled the Yankees into the American League lead Wednesday in a head-to-head battle with Baltimore, blanking the Orioles 2-0 while Joe Pepitone took care of the runs with a two-run single in the second inning.

Pitching one of his strongest games of the year, Ford prevented the Orioles from getting a man beyond first base as he brought his record to 12-2, lowered his earned run average to 1.98 and extended the Yankees winning streak to six games.

Hours later, Grant took the mound for the Twins and started laboring. He gave up eight hits in the first four innings—three in the fourth—but managed to keep the Washington Senators from scoring as he wound up with a 6-0 victory.

Ford's three-hitter was the eighth in the AL this season and the 19th in the majors, but Grant stepped up to a plateau that hasn't been reached since May 26, 1959, when Lew Burdette of Milwaukee allowed Pittsburgh 13 hits before winning 1-0 in 13 innings.

The loser that time was Harvey Haddix, who pitched 12 innings of perfect ball against the Braves.

One other shutout was turned in Wednesday, Dean Chance of Los Angeles getting his second straight in the nightcap as the Angels swept Detroit 5-4 and 1-0. Elsewhere, Dick Stuart hit two three-run homers as Boston crushed the Chicago White Sox 11-2 and Kansas City took two from Cleveland 5-3 and 3-2.

The second game of the vital Yankees-Orioles series was decided in the second inning when Mickey Mantle opened with a single off Dave McNally, Tom Tresh walked and the two worked a double steal. One out later, Pepitone lined a single to right—and Ford took it from there.

Grant won his fourth in five decisions since being acquired from Cleveland and brought his over-all record to 7-5. Home runs by Jimmie Hall, Rich Rollins and Jim Snyder supplied the Twins with more than enough firepower, although they were outhit 13-11.

The Angels also got the job done with homers. Lou Clinton and Felix Torres connected in the opener in support of Barry Latman, who snapped a six-game losing streak. Bob Perry's eighth inning homer off Tiger starter Phil Regan enabled Chance to win the nightcap.

Chance, bringing his record to 7-5, struck out 12 and now has pitched a shutout in each of his five complete games this season. His latest lowered his ERA to a spectacular 1.88.

Stuart's first homer in the opening inning put the Red Sox ahead 3-2 and they never trailed. Arnold Earley got the victory by scattering four White Sox hits, posting his first victory of the year and his first complete game since reaching the majors in 1960.

A's reliever Wes Stock, who hasn't lost since July, 1962, brought his record to 4-0 and won his 12th straight in the opener by allowing the Indians only two hits over the final 3 1-3 innings. He also scored the tie-breaking run in the sixth on a single by Dick Green.

The A's took the nightcap with homers by Bill Bryan and Rocky Colavito accounting for all the runs while Ted Bowsfield checked Cleveland on five hits.

Phillies Lynch-d; Jerry Belts Long Three-Run Homer

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Phillies had some more Wednesday night. Jerry Lynch, a southpaw swinger, clouted a three-run homer, powering Pittsburgh to a 3-0 victory over Philadelphia.

In talking about the Phillies' recent problems, Manager Mauch was referring specifically to left-handed pitchers. But Lynch's blast—to the opposite field—did as much damage as pitchers have been doing.

The Phillies have dropped six of their last seven games since vaulting into first place in the National League. The slump has tumbled them back out of first—although not by much.

First-place San Francisco also lost Wednesday night, 6-2 to surging Milwaukee, keeping Philadelphia just one game behind.

Some shoddy fielding contributed to the Phillies' latest loss. After Manny Mota led off the fourth inning with a single, Roberto Clemente grounded to third baseman Richie Allen.

The rookie let the ball get by him for an error, and shortstop Ruben Amaro, backing the play, picked up the ball and tossed it wildly to second, permitting the runners to advance one base each.

Elsewhere in the NL, Cincinnati edged Houston 2-1, Los Angeles bombed St. Louis 13-3 and Chicago nipped New York 3-2.

Bob Friend scattered seven singles, evening his record at 8-8. The Phillies put the first two men on in the eighth, but Friend fanned Tony Gonzalez and induced John Herrnstein to hit into a double play. Bunning, the perfect game pitcher, lost his fourth game against nine victories.

The Giants took a 2-1 lead on Willie Mays' 28th homer, a two-run blast in the fifth. But the Braves rallied in the seventh, scoring three runs. Hank Aaron singled across the tying run, and Lee Maye followed with a two-run double.

Ed Mathews added a two-run homer in the eighth. Aaron's three singles gave him 2,005 career hits, a Braves' record.

Ron Fairly smashed two homers and drove in five runs for the Dodgers. Willie Davis and Tommy Davis also connected as Larry Miller recorded his first major league victory. The Dodgers collected four runs in the fourth on two hits, two errors and a wild pitch.

JERRY LYNCH
Opposite Field Blast.

Dick Farrell was frustrated for the seventh time in his attempt to win his 11th game for Houston. Farrell won his 10th game on June 14, the first pitcher to win that many this season.

But Marty Keough's two-run homer in the sixth inning shattered any thought Farrell had of finally winning. Jim O'Toole picked up his 10th victory against four defeats.

Chicago edged New York behind the hitting and pitching of Lew Burdette. The veteran right-hander scattered nine hits in boosting his mark to 5-2 and homered for the deciding run in the eighth inning. Charlie Smith hit a homer for the Mets in the ninth.

Harris Named Cage Coach At Rochester

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Jim Harris, who resigned the basketball post at East Liverpool in May has been named head cage coach at Rochester (Pa.), Supt. Fenton Farley announced today.

The Rochester Board of Education unanimously approved his appointment at a meeting Wednesday night.

IN ADDITION to the basketball post at Rochester, Harris will coach a minor sport while his teaching job will be to coordinate elementary physical education. He will show an increase in overall salary at Rochester compared to his salary here.

At the Beaver County school, Harris will be faced with the task of rebuilding the basketball program after a long spell of losing seasons. He succeeds Adam Karcis who remains at Rochester as a junior high football coach. Rochester showed a 4-12 Section record last season and lost three regulars through graduation.

Rochester, which formerly competed in Section 8 of the WPIAL, was one of the teams moved from that Section and into 14-A, a new section created when the WPIAL reorganized in basketball following last season.

SECTION 14-A is made up of Rochester, Riverside, Freedom, Seneca Valley, Mohawk and Mars.

At East Liverpool last season, the Potters batted .500 under Harris with a 9-9 mark. He had three losing campaigns, one winning season but never won a tournament game in five years at ELHS.

JIM HARRIS
Takes Rochester Post.

Before returning to East Liverpool, Harris never had a losing season on the hardwood.

He was appointed head coach here in 1959 succeeding John Karaffa who resigned after a 3-17 record in the 1958-59 season.

In five years, Harris showed an overall record of 40 wins and 50 defeats plus five tournament setbacks.

—:—

HIS LONE winning season came in the 1960-61 season with a team that compiled a 12-6 mark and was led by Ken Cunningham, player of the year in Ohio and Ken Miller.

165 Tee Up Today In Columbus PGA

By JIM BECKER

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "The way we play it now, our championship is just another 'Swinging Door Open'," snorted one pro golfer.

"Listen, the object of professional golf is to make money—and this is the only way to make it," says another.

And so the argument goes, behind the scenes at the Professional Golfers Association tournament, which opened today at the Columbus Country Club with home town boy Jack Nicklaus defending his title.

Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and red hot Tony Lema are co-favorites in the field of 165, which will be cut to the low 90 after two rounds and to the low 60 for the final 18 holes on Sunday.

The PGA is the last of the Big Four — which includes the Masters and the U.S. and British Opens — and despite the money involved, it is the least important of the four.

Some players would like to go back to the old head-and-head match play format that was used up to 1958 in an effort to restore the prestige of the tournament.

The colorful Walter Hagen, who could bluff his own mother out of a two-foot putt, won the PGA four straight years at match play, and for many years it was the only major tournament in which the pros played the game the same way the public course hackers do — hole by hole.

But it was also the only major tournament that was a steady money loser.

"We couldn't give it away," says PGA tournament director Joe Black.

"Clubs didn't want it. You couldn't sell tickets, and you couldn't sell it to television.

"Some years all the big names would get knocked off the first thing. There went your drawing cards.

Lightning Strikes Same Spot For Wycoff

The saying goes that lightning doesn't strike twice in the same place, but you couldn't prove this theory to Bob Wycoff of East Liverpool. Wycoff scored his second hole-in-one within two weeks on the same No. 1 hole at the Beaver Creek Park 3 course Wednesday night.

Only two aces have been scored on the new course located near Beaver Local High School and Wycoff has both. On July 2, he aced the 95-yard hole for the first time.

Reed Misses Perfect Game By 1 Out, Hurls No-Hitter

How close can a pitcher come to hurling a perfect game?

Vic Reed of Lawrenceville couldn't have been any closer to that achievement than he was Wednesday in his team's 4-0 victory over the Hanover Reds in a South Side Hot Stove Junior Division game.

Reed wound up with a no-hitter and a fabulous total of 20 strikeouts but he was only one out away from a perfect game when he walked the last batter to face him. He had pitched perfect ball for 6 2/3 innings.

It was the the third no-hitter this season for the Lawrenceville righthander and his 20 strikeouts ties a league record. Craig Whittington of Newell also struck out 20 last month.

Besides providing all the thrills on the mound, Reed was the hitting star slamming a home run, double and single to collect three of his team's four hits.

Ford Pitches Yanks Into Lead, Blanks Orioles, 2-0

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Whitey Ford of the New York Yankees has pitched his seventh shutout of the season. But he allowed only three hits.

That's the easy way.

For a real spectacular achievement, there's Jim Grant of the Minnesota Twins, who pitched his first shutout of the season.

He allowed 13 hits.

Ford hurled the Yankees into the American League lead Wednesday in a head-to-head battle with Baltimore, blanking the Orioles 2-0 while Joe Pepitone took care of the runs with a two-run single in the second inning.

Pitching one of his strongest games of the year, Ford prevented the Orioles from getting a man beyond first base as he brought his record to 12-2, lowered his earned run average to 1.98 and extended the Yankees winning streak to six games.

Hours later, Grant took the mound for the Twins and started laboring. He gave up eight hits in the first four innings—three in the fourth—but managed to keep the Washington Senators from scoring as he wound up with a 6-0 victory.

Ford's three-hitter was the eighth in the AL this season and the 19th in the majors, but Grant stepped up to a plateau that hasn't been reached since May 26, 1959, when Lew Burdette of Milwaukee allowed Pittsburgh 13 hits before winning 1-0 in 13 innings.

The loser that time was Harvey Haddix, who pitched 12 innings of perfect ball against the Braves.

One other shutout was turned in Wednesday, Dean Chance of Los Angeles getting his second straight in the nightcap as the Angels swept Detroit 5-4 and 1-0. Elsewhere, Dick Stuart hit two three-run homers as Boston crushed the Chicago White Sox 11-2 and Kansas City took two from Cleveland 5-3 and 3-2.

The second game of the vital Yankees-Orioles series was decided in the second inning when Mickey Mantle opened with a single off Dave McNally, Tom Tresh walked and the two worked a double steal. One out later, Pepitone lined a single to right—and Ford took it from there.

Grant won his fourth in five decisions since being acquired from Cleveland and brought his over-all record to 7-5. Home runs by Jimmie Hall, Rich Rollins and Jim Snyder supplied the Twins with more than enough firepower, although they were outhit 13-11.

The Angels also got the job done with homers. Lou Clinton and Felix Torres connected in the opener in support of Barry Latman, who snapped a six-game losing streak. Bob Perry's eighth inning homer off Tiger starter Phil Regan enabled Chance to win the nightcap.

Chance, bringing his record to 7-5, struck out 12 and now has pitched a shutout in each of his five complete games this season. His latest lowered his ERA to a spectacular 1.88.

Stuart's first homer in the opening inning put the Red Sox ahead 3-2 and they never trailed. Arnold Earley got the victory by scattering four White Sox hits, posting his first victory of the year and his first complete game since reaching the majors in 1960.

A's reliever Wes Stock, who hasn't lost since July, 1962, brought his record to 4-0 and won his 12th straight in the opener by allowing the Indians only two hits over the final 3 1-3 innings. He also scored the tie-breaking run in the sixth on a single by Dick Green.

The A's took the nightcap with homers by Bill Bryan and Rocky Colavito accounting for all the runs while Ted Bowsfield checked Cleveland on five hits.

Phillies Lynch-d; Jerry Belts Long Three-Run Homer

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Phillies had some more Wednesday night. Jerry Lynch, a southpaw swinger, clouted a three-run homer, powering Pittsburgh to a 3-0 victory over Philadelphia.

In talking about the Phillies' recent problems, Manager Mauch was referring specifically to left-handed pitchers. But Lynch's blast—to the opposite field—did as much damage as pitchers have been doing.

The Phillies have dropped six of their last seven games since vaulting into first place in the National League. The slump has tumbled them back out of first—although not by much.

First-place San Francisco also lost Wednesday night, 6-2 to surging Milwaukee, keeping Philadelphia just one game behind.

Some shoddy fielding contributed to the Phillies' latest loss. After Manny Mota led off the fourth inning with a single, Roberto Clemente grounded to third baseman Richie Allen.

The rookie let the ball get by him for an error, and shortstop Ruben Amaro, backing the play, picked up the ball and tossed it wildly to second, permitting the runners to advance one base each.

JERRY LYNCH
Opposite Field Blast.

Elsewhere in the NL, Cincinnati edged Houston 2-1, Los Angeles bombed St. Louis 13-3 and Chicago nipped New York 3-2.

Bob Friend scattered seven singles, evening his record at 8-8. The Phillies put the first two men on in the eighth, but Friend fanned Tony Gonzalez and induced John Herrnstein to hit into a double play. Bunning, the perfect game pitcher, lost his fourth game against nine victories.

The Giants took a 2-1 lead on Willie Mays' 28th homer, a two-run blast in the fifth. But the Braves rallied in the seventh, scoring three runs. Hank Aaron singled across the tying run, and Lee Maye followed with a two-run double.

Ed Mathews added a two-run homer in the eighth. Aaron's three singles gave him 2,005 career hits, a Braves' record.

Ron Fairly smashed two homers and drove in five runs for the Dodgers. Willie Davis and Tommy Davis also connected as Larry Miller recorded his first major league victory. The Dodgers collected four runs in the fourth on two hits, two errors and a wild pitch.

Dick Farrell was frustrated for the seventh time in his attempt to win his 11th game for Houston. Farrell won his 10th game on June 14, the first pitcher to win that many this season.

But Marty Keough's two-run homer in the sixth inning shattered any thought Farrell had of finally winning. Jim O'Toole picked up his 10th victory against four defeats.

Chicago edged New York behind the hitting and pitching of Lew Burdette. The veteran right-hander scattered nine hits in boosting his mark to 5-2 and homered for the deciding run in the eighth inning. Charlie Smith hit a homer for the Mets in the ninth.

Harris Named Cage Coach At Rochester

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Jim Harris, who resigned the basketball post at East Liverpool in May has been named head cage coach at Rochester (Pa.), Supt. Fenton Farley announced today.

The Rochester Board of Education unanimously approved his appointment at a meeting Wednesday night.

IN ADDITION to the basketball post at Rochester, Harris will coach a minor sport while his teaching job will be to coordinate elementary physical education. He will show an increase in overall salary at Rochester compared to his salary here.

At the Beaver County school, Harris will be faced with the task of rebuilding the basketball program after a long spell of losing seasons. He succeeds Adam Karcis who remains at Rochester as a junior high football coach. Rochester showed a 4-12 Section record last season and lost three regulars through graduation.

Rochester, which formerly competed in Section 8 of the WPIAL, was one of the teams moved from that Section and into 14-A, a new section created when the WPIAL reorganized in basketball following last season.

SECTION 14-A is made up of Rochester, Riverside, Freedom, Seneca Valley, Mohawk and Mars.

At East Liverpool last season, the Potters batted .500 under Harris with a 9-9 mark. He had three losing campaigns, one winning season but never won a tournament game in five years at ELHS.

JIM HARRIS
Takes Rochester Post.

Before returning to East Liverpool, Harris never had a losing season on the hardwood.

He was appointed head coach here in 1959 succeeding John Karaffa who resigned after a 3-17 record in the 1958-59 season.

In five years, Harris showed an overall record of 40 wins and 50 defeats plus five tournament setbacks.

HIS LONE winning season came in the 1960-61 season with a team that compiled a 12-6 mark and was led by Ken Cunningham, player of the year in Ohio and Ken Miller.

A 5-9 guard in high school Harris was one of the three players from East Liverpool ever named to an All - State team. He was a standout on the 1945-46 Potter team which gained the state semi-finals at Toledo.

He entered Ohio State in 1946 but transferred to Baldwin-Wallace in his sophomore season where he was a standout for three seasons with the Yellowjackets. He was graduated from BW in 1951.

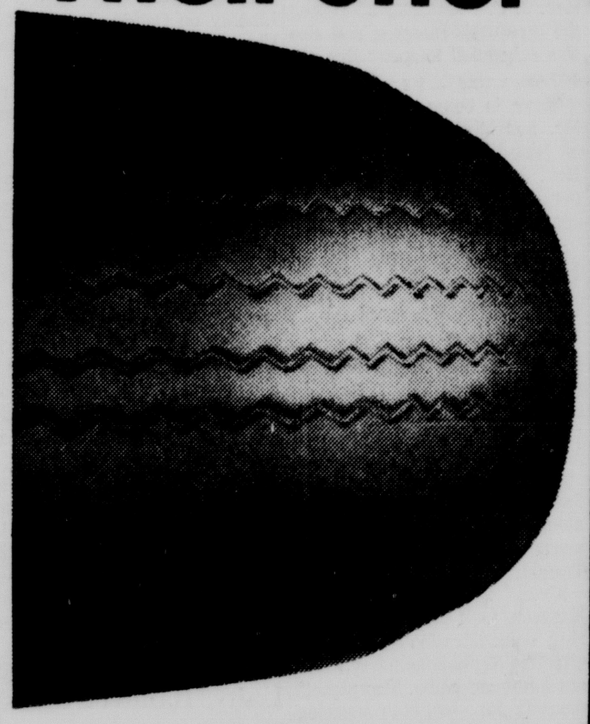
Their offer vs. Our offer



If their tire fails when it's this worn,
all other major tire brands will only allow you a few dollars toward a new tire. (You still have to pay about $15 more.)

Don't take our word for it.

"In the event of tire failure covered by the guarantee, tire will be pro-rated, based on the amount of original tread remaining."

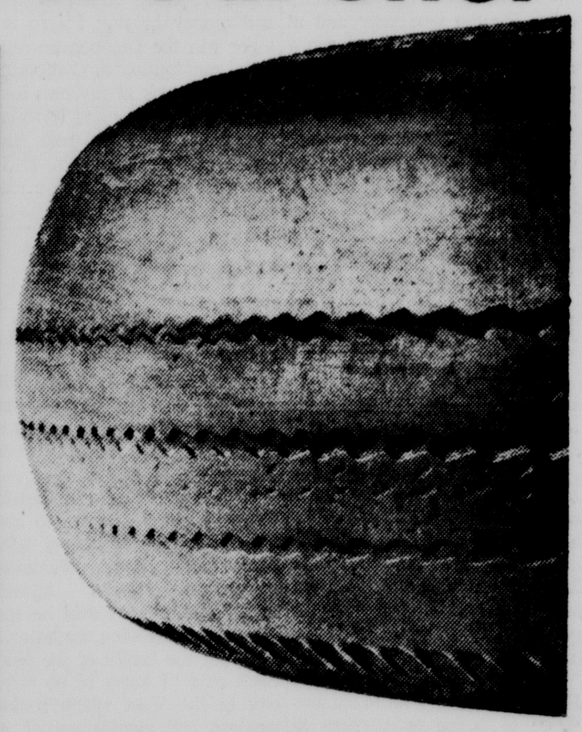
If it should fail at this point (which means you'd already have gotten about 80% of the wear out of the tire), you'd only be entitled to a small allowance. On a major-brand first line tire, in Chevrolet, Ford or Plymouth sizes, you'd still have to pay an additional $15 or so.

This is the standard "life of the tire" guarantee made by practically every manufacturer in the industry, including U.S. Royal.

Now compare this with the Special Introductory Offer described at the right.



If our tire fails when it's this worn,

U.S. Royal
will replace it with a brand new tire free.

U.S. Royal has developed a tire construction that's so strong, and so unlikely to fail, they can make this unheard-of Special Introductory Offer:

If the tire fails for any reason, except a repairable puncture or deliberate abuse, U.S. Royal will replace it with a brand new tire, free of charge.

This offer applies all the way down to the last ⅛" of original tread. (And if you want to see just how far down ⅛" of tread is, look at the picture.)

It doesn't matter how long you own the tire. And it doesn't matter how many miles you go. What's more, road hazards (such as chuck holes or broken glass) are included in the offer.

It covers these tires:

The U.S. Royal first-line tire (Safety 800)

The tiger's paw (Red-circle Super Safety 800)

The U.S. Royal premium tire (Red-circle Royal Master)

This Special Introductory Offer applies to passenger car replacement tires purchased and registered between now and August 15th.

And there's no catch.

Prices start as low as $18.95

Realtors, Lawyers Post Victories In Colt Loop

The Realtors scored late to gain a 5-1 edge over the league leading Dentists and the Lawyers managed to nip Central Service in a pair of Colt League battles Wednesday.

Playing through five inning of scoreless baseball, the Realtors came up with two runs in the sixth inning. After the Dentists scored once in the last of the sixth the Realtors tallied three insurance runs in the seventh.

Frank Quetot supplied the punch at the plate with a triple, double and single for three of his team's six hits. Jack Myler wound up the winner scattering eight hits with Cunningham and Talbott collecting two each.

Central Service went on top 3-1 after batting in the first inning but the Lawyers bounced back with three in the third and Blaine Clendenning came in to blank Central the rest of the way and pick up the mound victory.

Central was held to three hits while the Lawyers collected eight including two each by Ensinger and Clendenning. Rick Calhoun was charged with the setback.

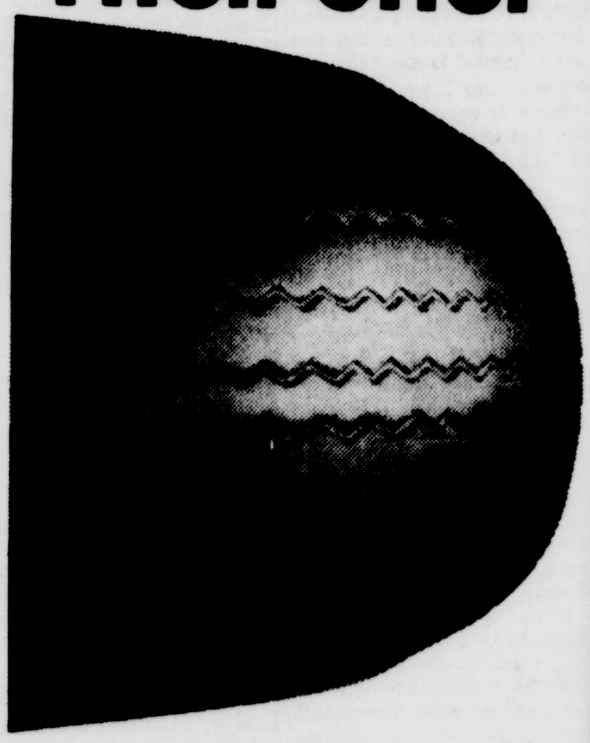
Their offer vs. Our offer



If their tire fails when it's this worn,
all other major tire brands will only allow you a few dollars toward a new tire. (You still have to pay about $15 more.)

Don't take our word for it.

"In the event of tire failure covered by the guarantee, tire will be pro-rated, based on the amount of original tread remaining."

If it should fail at this point (which means you'd already have gotten about 80% of the wear out of the tire), you'd only be entitled to a small allowance. On a major-brand first line tire, in Chevrolet, Ford or Plymouth sizes, you'd still have to pay an additional $15 or so.

This is the standard "__% of the tire" guarantee made by practically every manufacturer in the industry, including U.S. Royal.

Now compare this with the Special Introductory Offer described at the right.

If our tire fails when it's this worn,

U.S. Royal
will replace it with a brand new tire free.

U.S. Royal has developed a tire construction that's so strong, and so unlikely to fail, they can make this unheard-of Special Introductory Offer:

If the tire fails for any reason, except a repairable puncture or deliberate abuse, U.S. Royal will replace it with a brand new tire, free of charge.

This offer applies all the way down to the last ⅛" of original tread. (And if you want to see just how far down ⅛" of tread is, look at the picture.)

It doesn't matter how long you own the tire. And it doesn't matter how many miles you go. What's more, road hazards (such as chuck holes or broken glass) are included in the offer.

It covers these tires:

The U.S. Royal first-line tire (Safety 800)

The tiger's paw (Red-circle Super Safety-600)

The U.S. Royal premium tire (Red-circle Royal Master)

This Special Introductory Offer applies to passenger car replacement tires purchased and registered between now and August 15th.

And there's no catch.

Prices start as low as $18.95

Out Of The Air

By ALAN GILL

The Irascible Captain

The irascible Capt. Binghamton of ABC-TV's "McHale's Navy," who is really a 37-year-old actor named Joe Flynn, was in New York a few days last week, feeling quite literally poor.

Alan Gill

In his early post-war years he appeared in some 50 plays — some on the road, some in Hollywood, but most on Broadway — and Flynn does not recall those days in sweet tranquiltiy.

A great sense of poverty comes over me," he says, "and, though I've never been a tightwad, I can't spend a nickel here. We can be staying at a good hotel, but I get the nagging feeling that someone's about to turn us out of our lodgings."

"From the beginning, my greatest desire was to go there; but I felt I'd never live long enough. I adored it at the first crack, from the moment I saw the first mountain and palm tree. It still thrills me beyond reality."

Flynn's New York days are not the only gray memories he has. There also were those days, immediately after World War II, when he was a ventriloquist.

"I was a terrible ventriloquist," he says, "and I'd be worse today.

One New Year's Eve, I remember, I played a dive in a Pennsylvania town — a good booking because of the normal salary of $25 to $50 was doubled on New Year's Eve.

SO THERE I was with a $100 date: the big time.

"At midnight, I was at the microphone, calling the countdown for the new year and at the stroke of 12 someone threw a bomb. It was a powerful thing that knocked me into the wings.

"To this day I don't know if it was thrown in celebration of the holiday or as a comment on my act."

Today Flynn thinks of himself solely as an actor, though he constantly is socking away comic material against a rainy day, hoping he'll never have to use it.

"I get personal appearance offers quite often, because of the show," he says, "but no one will believe me when I tell them I don't do anything. I don't yodel or dance the tango or make paper pictures.

-:-

"AND I CAN see them thinking, 'The so-and-so's holding out for more money.' I was tempted to go out with Tom Conway in a stock company of 'Who Was That Lady I Saw You With?' but he preferred going zipping home to Chagrin Falls."

Flynn often has used his spare time to good advantage, though.

He was in the movie, "Lover, Come Back," and the about-to-be-released screen version of "McHale's Navy."

In addition, he and Tom Conway appear in the pilot episode of ABC's fall series, "Broadside" — a female answer to "McHale."

Going into his third season as Capt. Binghamton, Flynn confronts the problem of the ennui that sets in with a long run.

"THERE ARE a lot of things an actor should do about becoming bored," he muses, "but I don't know what they are. I became an actor because I wanted to play many parts. Play just one and the joy soon goes out of it. It's like working for the May Co." — a Los Angeles department store — "only the salary is higher.

"There are fewer and fewer jobs for the actor, as the TV series swell to 90 minutes and then run for season after season, and it takes courage to leave the security of a hit and work at this part and that, in movies, TV and theater.

"You never know, really, if you have the stature — if you're big and strong enough to risk it. You can be popular and famous, you know, and still be laid off for six months."

BUT THERE ARE no regrets — no regrets, even, that he ran for the Ohio Legislature in 1950 and lost by a mere 600 votes.

(His interest in politics continues warmly 14 years later; Flynn recently expended time and money helping Pierre Salinger win the Democratic senatorial nomination in California.)

"I look back at my own campaign," he says, "and I'm glad. The assemblyman's pay back home is $416 a month. If I'd won that election, I'd be a ruined man."

Since all major networks are devoting most of their program time during the next few days to the Republican National Convention at San Francisco, The Review has suspended publication of the TV log during the period because of its repetitious nature.

The regular TV listings will be resumed at the conclusion of the convention.

Feud That Landed Police Head, Judge In Court Ends

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — The police commission told the judge that he, the commissioner, had been wrong.

The judge told the police commissioner that he, the judge, was dismissing charges against him.

Thus ended Wednesday Salt Lake City's police entrapment feud that had landed both the police commissioner and the city judge in court.

It started when City Judge Horace Beck said he found evidence of police entrapment in cases involving prostitution and lewdness charges.

Police Commissioner Herbert Smart requested the county attorney in an open letter to take all future vice cases to a court other than Beck's.

Judge Beck was ordered into District Court to show cause why he should not be restrained from presiding over a lewdness trial in progress.

Beck then cited Smart with contempt of court for releasing the letter to the press, which he said was "an attempt to influence the court."

Beck won his case in District Court and was allowed to continue with the lewdness trial. Wednesday, Beck dismissed contempt charges against Smart after Smart said he was in error in releasing the letter.

During the height of the feud, Beck said "I know of no other city in the West which makes hustlers and gigolos out of its policemen."

Of the lewdness case, he said: "With $100, booze and beer, five policemen made a date with this woman to pose for a picture. They paid her a salary, then arrested her. That is entrapment."

Smart has not conceded there is entrapment. He says he wants the State Supreme Court to rule on the matter.

Negro Resigns State Post With Blast At Rhodes

CLEVELAND (AP) — Frank Evans, Negro labor leader, has resigned from the State Manpower Commission with a blast at Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes for "siding with the Goldwater faction of the Republican party."

Evans, appointed by Rhodes to the 12-man commission, said he sent a telgram announcing his resignation Wednesday night to Rhodes at the Republican National Convention.

Evans said he told the governor, "Since you have now joined the obstructionist forces of the Republican party, and thereby expressing your honest feeling that the white backlash will put your political choice into office, you leave me no alternative but to resign. . . ."

Evans, a member of the international executive board of the Allied Industrial Workers Union, said Rhodes had been reported as saying that the reaction of whites against the civil rights bill will propel Sen. Barry Goldwater into the presidency.

Hamilton GOP Target Of CORE Picketing

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Congress of Racial Equality picketed Hamilton County Republican headquarters Wednesday to protest the GOP party platform's civil rights plank.

The Ohio delegation to the San Francisco convention voted along with the majority against inserting a more liberal plank Tuesday night.

About 25 persons, mostly Negroes, took part in the hour-long demonstration that began after the Republican party workers had gone home. The pickets passed out leaflets accusing Ohio Republicans of indifference to civil rights.

Fat-Toning Exercise Techniques

Ida Jean Kain

The secret is to hold the muscle contraction to a slow count of 10, or for a full 6 seconds. Truly, this toning technique works sheer magic. . . it's as exciting as finding the fountain of youth in middle age!

Let's try these toners, starting with the chinline. That fragile line from the tip of the chin to the dimple in the throat is the feminine Achilles' heel. Let's face it, a turkey gobbler chinline is no morale-booster for anyone, man or woman, at any age.

THE TONING trick is to use the antagonistic muscles. Smile big, opening your mouth wide, sidewise. The exercise action is to try to open your mouth and close it at the same time, thus pitting one set of muscles against another set. Hold this muscle contraction to a slow count of 10. To put bracing tone in neck and jaw muscles, do this tug-of-muscle once a day.

If the muscle under the chin, the platysma, has lost its grip on youth, try this toner. Position: Head erect, with the line at the back of the neck straight, chin held level. Action: Stick out your tongue, curling tongue slightly upwards. . .h-o-l-d. Hold the contraction for a slow count of 10. With these two tone-ups, done once a day, you can kiss that double chin goodbye tout de suite.

Another "dead" area, muscularly speaking, is on the backs of the upper arms. The tricepts muscles sag sadly as time goes by. It's not time, but loss of tone that causes the sagging. This happens because the tricepts are not used in the common everyday action of lifting. The triceps are brought into action when there is force behind a punch, and in pushing.

FOR fast-toning, put this action principle to work by pushing against an immovable object. Position: Stand in an open doorway, back pressed flat against one side of the door jamb. Extend one arm, chest level, across doorway and place palm of hand on the opposite door jamb. Action: Push forcibly against door jamb, holding the contraction to a slow count of 10. Start the count with the push. Change hands, and push and hold with the muscles of the other arm. Support your back against the opposite door frame — pull up and in with girdle muscles. This tone - up, done just once daily, will work a bracing miracle.

Lisbon Company Asks High Court Review Of Case

Following through on an announcement it made a week ago, the Lisbon Sales Book Co. Wednesday asked the Ohio Supreme Court at Columbus to reconsider a ruling issued July 9 determining that the Lisbon company and its executives should stand trial on charges of violating the state's anti-gambling laws that ban printing of number slips.

The request for the review was filed by Atty. R. Brooke Alloway of Columbus in what is seen as the preliminary to an appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court if the high Ohio court rules adversely.

The series of court actions began in 1961 when Columbiana County Common Pleas Court held that the law under which the firm and its officers were indicted is unconstitutional. The 7th District Court of Appeals reversed the Common Pleas Court. The Supreme Court then upheld the appellate court in a ruling handed down last week.

The Supreme Court held that the charges should be returned to the Columbiana County court for trial. The indictments name the sales book company, Martin Sufrin of Pittsburgh, president, and other officers.

Out Of The Air

By ALAN GILL

The Irascible Captain

The irascible Capt. Binghamton of ABC-TV's "McHale's Navy," who is really a 37-year-old actor named Joe Flynn, was in New York a few days last week, feeling quite literally poor.

Alan Gill

In his early post-war years he appeared in some 50 plays — some on the road, some in Hollywood, but most on Broadway — and Flynn does not recall those days in sweet tranquiltiy.

A great sense of poverty comes over me," he says, "and, though I've never been a tightwad, I can't spend a nickel here. We can be staying at a good hotel, but I get the nagging feeling that someone's about to turn us out of our lodgings."

"From the beginning, my greatest desire was to go there; but I felt I'd never live long enough. I adored it at the first crack, from the moment I saw the first mountain and palm tree. It still thrills me beyond reality."

Flynn's New York days are not the only gray memories he has. There also were those days, immediately after World War II, when he was a ventriloquist.

"I was a terrible ventriloquist," he says, "and I'd be worse today.

One New Year's Eve, I remember, I played a dive in a Pennsylvania town — a good booking because of the normal salary of $25 to $50 was doubled on New Year's Eve.

SO THERE I was with a $100 date: the big time.

"At midnight, I was at the microphone, calling the countdown for the new year and at the stroke of 12 someone threw a bomb. It was a powerful thing that knocked me into the wings.

"To this day I don't know if it was thrown in celebration of the holiday or as a comment on my act."

Today Flynn thinks of himself solely as an actor, though he constantly is socking away comic material against a rainy day, hoping he'll never have to use it.

"I get personal appearance offers quite often, because of the show," he says, "but no one will believe me when I tell them I don't do anything. I don't yodel or dance the tango or make paper pictures.

-:-

"AND I CAN see them thinking, 'The so-and-so's holding out for more money.' I was tempted to go out with Tom Conway in a stock company of 'Who Was That Lady I Saw You With?' but he preferred going zipping home to Chagrin Falls."

Flynn often has used his spare time to good advantage, though.

He was in the movie, "Lover, Come Back," and the about-to-be-released screen version of "McHale's Navy."

In addition, he and Tom Conway appear in the pilot episode of ABC's fall series, "Broadside" — a female answer to "McHale."

Going into his third season as Capt. Binghamton, Flynn confronts the problem of the ennui that sets in with a long run.

"THERE ARE a lot of things an actor should do about becoming bored," he muses, "but I don't know what they are. I became an actor because I wanted to play many parts. Play just one and the joy soon goes out of it. It's like working for the May Co." — a Los Angeles department store — "only the salary is higher.

"There are fewer and fewer jobs for the actor, as the TV series swell to 90 minutes and then run for season after season, and it takes courage to leave the security of a hit and work at this part and that, in movies, TV and theater.

"You never know, really, if you have the stature — if you're big and strong enough to risk it. You can be popular and famous, you know, and still be laid off for six months."

BUT THERE ARE no regrets — no regrets, even, that he ran for the Ohio Legislature in 1950 and lost by a mere 600 votes.

(His interest in politics continues warmly 14 years later; Flynn recently expended time and money helping Pierre Salinger win the Democratic senatorial nomination in California.)

"I look back at my own campaign," he says, "and I'm glad. The assemblyman's pay back home is $416 a month. If I'd won that election, I'd be a ruined man."

Since all major networks are devoting most of their program time during the next few days to the Republican National Convention at San Francisco, The Review has suspended publication of the TV log during the period because of its repetitious nature.

The regular TV listings will be resumed at the conclusion of the convention.

Fat-Toning Exercise Techniques

Ida Jean Kain

The secret is to hold the muscle contraction to a slow count of 10, or for a full 6 seconds. Truly, this toning technique works sheer magic. . . it's as exciting as finding the fountain of youth in middle age!

Let's try these toners, starting with the chinline. That fragile line from the tip of the chin to the dimple in the throat is the feminine Achilles' heel. Let's face it, a turkey gobbler chinline is no morale-booster for anyone, man or woman, at any age.

THE TONING trick is to use the antagonistic muscles. Smile big, opening your mouth wide, sidewise. The exercise action is to try to open your mouth and close it at the same time, thus pitting one set of muscles against another set. Hold this muscle contraction to a slow count of 10. To put bracing tone in neck and jaw muscles, do this tug-of-muscle once a day.

If the muscle under the chin, the platysma, has lost its grip on youth, try this toner. Position: Head erect, with the line at the back of the neck straight, chin held level. Action: Stick out your tongue, curling tongue slightly upwards. . .h-o-l-d. Hold the contraction for a slow count of 10. With these two tone-ups, done once a day, you can kiss that double chin goodbye tout de suite.

Another "dead" area, muscularly speaking, is on the backs of the upper arms. The triceps muscles sag sadly as time goes by. It's not time, but loss of tone that causes the sagging. This happens because the triceps are not used in the common everyday action of lifting. The triceps are brought into action when there is force behind a punch, and in pushing.

FOR fast-toning, put this action principle to work by pushing against an immovable object. Position: Stand in an open doorway, back pressed flat against one side of the door jamb. Extend one arm, chest level, across doorway and place palm of hand on the opposite door jamb. Action: Push forcibly against door jamb, holding the contraction to a slow count of 10. Start the count with the push. Change hands, and push and hold with the muscles of the other arm. Support your back against the opposite door frame — pull up and in with girdle muscles. This tone - up, done just once daily, will work a bracing miracle.

Lisbon Company Asks High Court Review Of Case

Following through on an announcement it made a week ago, the Lisbon Sales Book Co. Wednesday asked the Ohio Supreme Court at Columbus to reconsider a ruling issued July 9 determining that the Lisbon company and its executives should stand trial on charges of violating the state's anti-gambling laws that ban printing of number slips.

The request for the review was filed by Atty. R. Brooke Alloway of Columbus in what is seen as the preliminary to an appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court if the high Ohio court rules adversely.

The series of court actions began in 1961 when Columbiana County Common Pleas Court held that the law under which the firm and its officers were indicted is unconstitutional. The 7th District Court of Appeals reversed the Common Pleas Court. The Supreme Court then upheld the appellate court in a ruling handed down last week.

The Supreme Court held that the charges should be returned to the Columbiana County court for trial. The indictments name the sales book company, Martin Sufrin of Pittsburgh, president, and other officers.

Feud That Landed Police Head, Judge In Court Ends

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — The police commission told the judge that he, the commissioner, had been wrong.

The judge told the police commissioner that he, the judge, was dismissing charges against him.

Thus ended Wednesday Salt Lake City's police entrapment feud that had landed both the police commissioner and the city judge in court.

It started when City Judge Horace Beck said he found evidence of police entrapment in cases involving prostitution and lewdness charges.

Police Commissioner Herbert Smart requested the county attorney in an open letter to take all future vice cases to a court other than Beck's.

Judge Beck was ordered into District Court to show cause why he should not be restrained from presiding over a lewdness trial in progress.

Beck then cited Smart with contempt of court for releasing the letter to the press, which he said was "an attempt to influence the court."

Beck won his case in District Court and was allowed to continue with the lewdness trial. Wednesday, Beck dismissed contempt charges against Smart after Smart said he was in error in releasing the letter.

During the height of the feud, Beck said "I know of no other city in the West which makes hustlers and gigolos out of its policemen."

Of the lewdness case, he said: "With $100, booze and beer, five policemen made a date with this woman to pose for a picture. They paid her a salary, then arrested her. That is entrapment."

Smart has not conceded there is entrapment. He says he wants the State Supreme Court to rule on the matter.

Hamilton GOP Target Of CORE Picketing

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Congress of Racial Equality picketed Hamilton County Republican headquarters Wednesday to protest the GOP party platform's civil rights plank.

The Ohio delegation to the San Francisco convention voted along with the majority against inserting a more liberal plank Tuesday night.

About 25 persons, mostly Negroes, took part in the hour-long demonstration that began after the Republican party workers had gone home. The pickets passed out leaflets accusing Ohio Republicans of indifference to civil rights.

Nicklaus Again Wins PGA Driving Crown

In the contest at Columbus Country Club Wednesday, Nicklaus clouted a drive of 320 yards, 1 foot, 11½ inches. This was short of the record 341-yard, 1 - foot, 5-inch blast he got off in Dallas last year, but beat runnerup Harold Williams of Tuscaloosa, Ala., by some 14 yards.

Negro Resigns State Post With Blast At Rhodes

CLEVELAND (AP) — Frank Evans, Negro labor leader, has resigned from the State Manpower Commission with a blast at Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes for "siding with the Goldwater faction of the Republican party."

Evans, appointed by Rhodes to the 12-man commission, said he sent a telgram announcing his resignation Wednesday night to Rhodes at the Republican National Convention.

Evans said he told the governor, "Since you have now joined the obstructionist forces of the Republican party, and thereby expressing your honest feeling that the white backlash will put your political choice into office, you leave me no alternative but to resign. . . ."

Evans, a member of the international executive board of the Allied Industrial Workers Union, said Rhodes had been reported as saying that the reaction of whites against the civil rights bill will propel Sen. Barry Goldwater into the presidency.

Work On Monument About Half Finished

WASHINGTON (AP) — Workmen are a little more than half way through the job of repairing stonework in the Washington Monument.

The 555-foot shaft also is scheduled to get a bath in its first major face-lifting in 30 years.

Working from a two-foot-wide scaffolding, a 10-man crew from the D. C. Taylor Co., Cedar Rapids, Iowa, is digging ⅝ of an inch into the old mortar and then replacing this compound.

Work started in early May. The monument has remained open for visitors.

City Will Add 400 Accounts In Tax Study

A minimum of 400 new accounts is anticipated following completion of a citywide income tax survey to check on taxpayers who were unlisted, D. G. Wilkinson, tax commissioner, said today.

Wilkinson said 278 new accounts already have been established and the list is expected to reach 400 or more after a camparison of the 8,000 names compiled by the surveyor against present tax lists.

Each account is worth at least $25, placing the total new revenue at $10,000, Wilkinson continued. The survey cost $1,919.24, he said. Council originally appropriated $2,000 to cover the cost.

The tax commissioner praised residents for their co-operation in the survey, pointing out only six refused to give information.

Meanwhile, 18 more charges for failing to file final returns for 1963 and estimates on 1964 income are being prepared, Wilkinson said.

When the charges are filed in Municipal Court, it will clear up a backlog of some 80 cases of taxpayers for two violations.

The office then will begin processing the cases of some 75 delinquent taxpayers, who filed final returns for 1963 but have not filed estimates of 1964 income as required by the ordinance, Wilkinson said.

A full report on receipts for the first six months of 1964 along with a breakdown of costs for operation of the office will be given to City Council at its meeting Monday night, Wilkinson concluded.

Soviet Offers Plan To Destroy Bombers

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union proposed today that the United States and the Soviet Union agree in principle to the phased destruction of all their bombers as a step toward world disarmament.

Soviet negotiator Semyon K. Tsarapkin told the 17-nation disarmament talks that once the United States agrees to the principle of destruction of all bombers, the Soviet government is ready to discuss such details as the types of aircraft, the phases, the over-all time limit and international verification procedures.

City Will Add 400 Accounts In Tax Study

A minimum of 400 new accounts is anticipated following completion of a citywide income tax survey to check on taxpayers who were unlisted, D. G. Wilkinson, tax commissioner, said today.

Wilkinson said 278 new accounts already have been established and the list is expected to reach 400 or more after a camparison of the 8,000 names compiled by the surveyor against present tax lists.

Each account is worth at least $25, placing the total new revenue at $10,000, Wilkinson continued. The survey cost $1,919.24, he said. Council originally appropriated $2,000 to cover the cost.

The tax commissioner praised residents for their co-operation in the survey, pointing out only six refused to give information.

Meanwhile, 18 more charges for failing to file final returns for 1963 and estimates on 1964 income are being prepared, Wilkinson said.

When the charges are filed in Municipal Court, it will clear up a backlog of some 80 cases of taxpayers for two violations.

The office then will begin processing the cases of some 75 delinquent taxpayers, who filed final returns for 1963 but have not filed estimates of 1964 income as required by the ordinance, Wilkinson said.

A full report on receipts for the first six months of 1964 along with a breakdown of costs for operation of the office will be given to City Council at its meeting Monday night, Wilkinson concluded.

Soviet Offers Plan To Destroy Bombers

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union proposed today that the United States and the Soviet Union agree in principle to the phased destruction of all their bombers as a step toward world disarmament.

Soviet negotiator Semyon K. Tsarapkin told the 17-nation disarmament talks that once the United States agrees to the principle of destruction of all bombers, the Soviet government is ready to discuss such details as the types of aircraft, the phases, the over-all time limit and international verification procedures.

The average size suit worn by American men today is 41.

De Vincenzo, who had a one-stroke lead going into the 18-hole final, finished the scheduled 72 holes in a tie with South African Cobie Legrange, each with a 12-under-par 272.

A Junior Editors Quiz About Florida

QUESTION: What made the Florida Keys and why are they called keys?

ANSWER: "Key" comes from a Spanish word "cayo" meaning small island. "Cay" is used in the West Indies with the same meaning. The upper part of the keys (see map) were built up by the tiny animals called coral polyps, each of which secretes a protective shell of lime. It takes billions of such shells to make a foundation for land. Corals can only grow in shallow places with the water above 70 degrees. In North America, southern Florida is the only place where conditions are right for corals to build reefs. The lower group of keys was formed by sediments which collected in the more sheltered waters and were compacted into limestone, later carved by ocean currents into islands. A causeway 110 miles long connects the mainland with the southernmost city in the continental United States, Key West. On the sheltered west side of the keys, a remarkable tree, the mangrove, has for ages been busy making little islands in its own way. Small seedlings of this tree, which can grow with its roots in salt water, float until they reach a sandbar or mudflat, then take hold and grow into a tree (lower right). The tangled roots collect debris, and after awhile a whole islet will grow around the single tree.

FOR YOU TO DO: See if you can locate books that tell about the Florida Keys and their unusual animal life—such as deer weighing less than 50 pounds.

Youngstown Woman Sentenced For Theft

Denying a request for probation, Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp at Lisbon Wednesday sentenced Mrs. Mary Ellen Lawson, 19, of Youngstown to a 1-7-year term in the Women's Reformatory at Marysville on a charge she stole cigarettes from Mason's Foodliner at Wellsville several months ago.

Indicted June 6 by the recalled April Grand Jury, Mrs. Lawson had pleaded guilty to the grand larceny charge and asked probation. In acting yesterday, the court commented that her past record was "poor" and that several warrants are pending against her in other areas on shoplifting charges.

Two men indicted in connection with the same case also have requested probation.

About nine per cent of people are lefthanded.

Wage Dispute Brings British Postal Strike

LONDON (AP)—More than 100,000 British postal workers struck for 24 hours today, bringing total stoppage to mails already jammed by a slowdown.

The strikers—sorters, mailmen and drivers—are demanding a 10 per cent hike in basic wages that average $33.60 a week. The government is offering a 4 per cent with another hike after a review of pay and conditions.
